Search For 4 Still Missing In Plant Blast

16 Bodies Recovered, 90 Injured In Sioux City, Ia., Explosion

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Dec. 15 —(AP)—Workmen searched today for possible additional bodies in the wreckage of the Swift and Co., packing plant office building, rocked by an explosion which killed 16 persons yesterday. Nine of some 90 others injured were reported in critical condition.

The sixteen bodies had been recovered late last night but some 200 workmen stayed on the job throughout the night hunting for four other persons believed killed in the blast.

Assistant Fire Chief Clarence Chappelle said he expected to find four more bodies in the debris. Some 200 workmen pulled slabs of concrete and twisted steel out of the basement of the five-story brick structure.

Fire Chief Charles Kuhl, who estimated the damage "at more than $1,000,000," blamed escaping natural gas for the explosion.

Sheriff Edwin L. Lunde last night said the "main thing is to try to get out any who might be alive and to extricate bodies."

A spokesman for 12 company officials who came here from Chicago by chartered plane said they were conducting an investigation to determine the cause of the explosion.

The dead included 15 men and a company nurse.

Of the 85 on the injured lists reports by four hospitals, 60 remained hospitalized. Twenty-five were treated and dismissed.

The blast, one of Sioux City's worst disasters, rocked the big meat packing area shortly before noon yesterday. Most clocks in the razed interior of the office building were stopped at 11:33 a. m. The structure housed offices, some processing operations and a cafeteria.

A company spokesman said about 1,000 persons were in the building at the time of the blast. He said the first concern of officials "is for the employes who have lost their lives, those who have been injured and their families."

Did Fate Intervene?

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Dec. 15 —(AP)—Fate appeared to have played a strange hand in the explosion which wrecked the five-story Swift & Co. brick building here yesterday and left at least 16 dead and 90 injured.

There was Mrs. Melvina Abbe at work on the fifth floor in the meat trimming department. Suddenly, she suffered a severe headache. It was 11:20 a. m. when she started for the nurse's office on the second floor.

The fate? She stopped to talk to a fellow worker, Mrs. Freda Walker. She told Mrs. Walker she just had to have relief because of her severe headache.

Mrs. Walker gave Mrs. Abbe some aspirin and she went back to work.

Ten minutes later the explosion rocked the building. It struck with full force the nurse's office where Mrs. Abbe might have been had it not been for Mrs. Walker's aspirin. Mrs. Ruth Teager, vacation relief nurse at the plant, was killed as the office was crushed by the impact.

Fate?

Then there was Glendon Merrill Johnson. He drove a truck in World War II through the thick of many battle fields. He was one of the first truck drivers to cross Remagen bridge on the Rhine just before it was blown up.

Yesterday he was one of those killed in the explosion.

FIRE CALL ANSWERED

The fire department was called to 1164 E. Third st. at 8:41 a. m. today where dust on the outside of a furnace was burning. No damage, other than heavy smoke throughout the house, resulted.

A GOP "POLICY COMMITTEE" will be named in January to help wrest control of Congress from the Democrats, National Chairman Guy Gabrielson (left) told top Republicans in Chicago pow-wow. He is shown conferring with R. Douglas Stuart, national treasurer. Arthur E. Summerfield of Flint, Mich., "strategy" chairman, told the GOP to "divest itself of me-tooism."

New Ballot Aid To Taft, 2 Opine

Name Candidates Get Benefit, Brown Says

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—Two Ohio congressmen, a Republican and a Democrat, agree their state's new election ballot probably will help Senator Taft (R-Ohio) in his quest for reelection in 1950.

Rep. Brown ,a Republican, predicted the constitutional amendment abolishing straight-ticket voting, might add as many as 100,000 votes to Taft's total.

Brown said in an interview he thinks the new system will help "name candidates" but handicap those who seek to ride the coat tails of better known aspirants.

Rep. Huber, a Democrat, said angrily: "It definitely will help Taft—that was the purpose behind it. A lot of money was spent campaigning for it.

"And now maybe the Republicans will quit messing around with the Ohio ballots to suit their own ends. This is the fourth time they have changed the ballots in recent years for political reasons."

The change requires voters to mark their ballots for each candidate. Candidates will be grouped by the office they seek.k

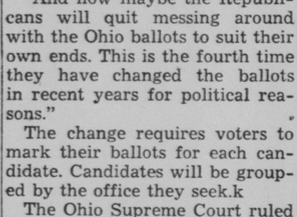
The Ohio Supreme Court ruled yesterday that the constitutional amendment making the change had received enough votes in the November election to become law.

Amvets Sponsor Food Drive For Area Needy

A food drive, sponsored by the Salem Amvets, will begin this week in most of the city's grocery stores. The post is placing containers in the stores and requests that shoppers buy an extra can or other grocery item for the needy families in Salem and vicinity.

The food will be used to fill Christmas baskets for families certified by the Red Cross. That organization has a long list of such families this year.

The containers will be left in the groceries until the day before Christmas, Amvet Commander Ralph Mancuso said.



Rent Control Extension Seen

O'Hara Predicts Congress Will Okay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—A key lawmaker predicted today President Truman will ask, and congress will approve, a continuation of rent controls beyond the June 30, 1950 expiration date.

The spokesman was Rep. Barratt O'Hara (D-Ill.), a member of the house banking committee who is close to the administration.

"The final answer that rent controls must be continued, "he told newsmen, "was given by the reimposition of rent ceilings at Harrodsburg, Ky., where even a landlord and a banker asked that controls be restored after there had been exorbitant rent increases—running from 10 to 300 per cent."

O'Hara said "the situation in Chicago and other large cities would be terrible if controls were dropped."

He made a flat prediction that congress will continue the rent law, although some of the lawmakers close to the White House have voiced doubt that congress will permit any federal rent controls after June 30.

If there is a continuation the law's effect may be confined in new legislation to rent ceilings only for large cities.

Under the revised rent law enacted earlier this year, a legislature may decontrol a whole state and a city government can lift controls in its jurisdiction. The Federal Rent Administrator, Tighe E. Woods, has authority too to take off rent ceilings on his own initiative and with recommendations from local rent boards.

About 2,000,000 dwelling units have been decontrolled, leaving about 12,000,000 of the approximately 40,000,000 dwellings in the country still under control.

3 Drivers Fined On Patrol Arrests

State patrolmen today reported three highway arrests which resulted in fines.

Kenneth L. Swearingen, 34, of Colliers, W. Va., was fined $20 and costs Monday by Justice of the Peace F. L. Held of Calcutta for failure to register his vehicle.

Ervin H. Paulsen, 39, of Davenport, Ia., was fined $10 and costs Tuesday by Mayor W. A. Hunston of East Palestine for passing over the yellow line.

John D. Anderson, 46, of Youngstown was fined $5 and costs Tuesday by Justice of the Peace H. A. Walker of Canfield on a speeding charge.

Jessup Surveys Red Menaces In Far East

U. S. Policy Advisor To Leave On Tour For State Department

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—Phillip C. Jessup, a top administration adviser on far Eastern policy, is leaving for a two-month survey of the Communist menaced lands around Red China.

Jessup has the post of roving ambassador. His present assignment is to investigate conditions throughout the Far East and confer with American diplomats on the spot about moves which may be made to block Communism.

Leaving Washington by train today, he is to sail from San Francisco Tuesday for Japan, arriving there Jan. 5.

Tokyo is the first stop on the itinerary. He is expected to confer there with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and also to determine exactly the time table for the rest of his trip up to the time he arrives at Bangkok, Siam, in early February.

In Bangkok he will meet with top American diplomats from all over the Far East in a conference due to last from Feb. 11 to 15. Then he will visit India and Pakistan and probably return to the United States by ship through the Mediterranean.

Jessup is expected to visit all places of primary concern to the United States and other Western powers in their efforts to develop an effective stop-Communism program for that part of the world.

The Communist conquest of China is in its final stages and the Chinese Nationalist government has already fled from the mainland and established itself in the island stronghold of Formosa.

Among the questions which Jessup may discuss with Gen. MacArthur and other American leaders in the Far East are: The future attitude of the United States toward Formosa, the progress of work on a Japanese peace treaty, and whatever measures the United States may be able to take in such countries as Indo-China and Burma to help keep the Communists from taking them over.

Legion Workshop Vies With St. Nick

Santa Claus and his North Pole helpers have nothing on Charles H. Carey Post, American Legion, members and auxiliary, who are busy in the Legion home toy workshop each night this week.

Following the dinner session and carol sing Wednesday night in the home, 45 members of the two organizations worked into the early morning hours on the many and varied used toys that have been brought in for rejuvenation.

Much work was accomplished last night, but the members meet again tonight to paint and auxiliary members are giving a wash treatment to cuddly dolls and animals at home.

People with toys that can be fixed up for some needy child may have them picked up by calling 4115 or 7501.

SEEK VICTIMS OF PLANT EXPLOSION.—Firemen comb the wrecked Swift and Co. meat packing plant in Sioux City, Ia., seeking victims of a disastrous explosion in which 16 persons died. At least 90 of the plant's 700 employes were injured, six or more critically. Cause of the blast was believed to be leaking natural gas in the plant's heating facilities.

Scott Predicts 1952 GOP Race

Says Taft And "Ike" Leading Candidates

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15—(AP)—Rep. Hugh D. Scott, Jr., the man who mapped the Republican presidential race in 1948, today predicted a two-way fight for the 1952 nominatiion.

The contestants: Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and General Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University.

Scott, Philadelphia congressman who was chairman of the Republican natiional committee until last summer, returned to his office after a nine-day trip to the West coast, during which he talked politics in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver and several other places along the way.

"I think the contest will be strictly between Eisenhower and Taft," Scott concluded, "unless, of course, some favorite son comes along at the last minute to beat them to it.

"There is no doubt in my mind that Eisenhower is a Republican."

Scott said in an interview "the conservative-minded people like Taft. But the great bulk of the middle-of-the-road voters, regardless of party, speak most favorably of Eisenhower as their choice for 1952."

He listed as tops among favorite son possibilities of the moment Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and Governor Van Peterson of Nebraska.

Examinations Open For City Fireman

Men from 21 to 29 years of age who have lived in Salem for one year are eligible to take the examination to fill the vacancy on the city fire department created by the resignation of Captain James Hinkle.

The exam will be held by the civil service commission at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 27, in the city hall. Those passing the test will be placed on an eligibility list from which a new fireman will be appointed by Safety Director C. E. Phillips.

Another exam, open only to members of the fire department, will determine Hinkle's successor as captain of the department. It will also be held Dec. 27.

Application blanks for the exam may be obtained from Roy Harris, commission secretary, at his place of business at Lincoln and Second st.

Featherless Rooster To Have Tweed Suit

ONTARIO, Calif., Dec. 15—(AP) — Sam, the featherless rooster of Mobile, Ala., will sport a tweed suit, come Christmas.

The gift is from Mrs. Anne Brown, who saw the goose-pimpled bird in an Associated Press wirephoto. Sam hasn't sprouted a feather since he hatched into a chilly world eight months ago.

Mrs. Brown wrote Sam's owner, Nick Hasselvander, offering to make a wardrobe. Hassenvander sent measurements, adding that Sam would appreciate a warm suit so he can "saunter out and see something of the world."

Man Drowned As Car Upsets

Freak Mishap Kills E. Liverpool Resident

Death claimed a 49-year-old East Liverpool pottery worker in a freak highway accident an 11 p. m. Wednesday on Route 7, two miles north of Route 30.

Milton Paul Beagle drowned in three inches of water and mud in a roadside ditch when the Willys station wagon, in which he was a passenger, overturned—threw him out and pinned him under the vehicle face downward.

He was pronounced dead upon arrival at the East Liverpool City Hospital where a hospital doctor said the cause of death was suffocation, although Beagle suffered minor injuries.

Michael Orenzuk, 32, Newell, W. Va., bartender, driver of the car, suffered extreme shock, body abrasions and lacerations. He was admitted to the East Liverpool Hospital for observation.

Orenzuk told patrolmen he was temporarily blinded by lights of an oncoming car and lost control of the station wagon on a curve.

Lighting Contest Offers 9 Prizes

Trophies Prepared For Nine Winners

Nine trophies will be awarded to winners in the Junior Chamber of Commerce 1949 Christmas Lighting contest, William Keck, Jaycee committee chairman, said today.

The Mullins Manufacturing Corporation is securing the grand prize which will be presented to the person exhibiting the most attractive Christmas display in Salem or surrounding rural area.

The silver trophies will be in loving-cup form and will range in size from eight to 16 inches. The Jaycees are providing the other eight trophies—five of which will be awarded to Christmas decorators within Salem with three going to rural area winners. The contest has been separated into two divisions for urban and rural area contestants.

Keck said the trophy prizes were chosen, rather than merchandise awards this year, because of the lasting value of the trophies. The prizes will be appropriate for showing on the living room mantel.

Each trophy will be engraved with the winner's name and "Junior Chamber of Commerce Lighting Contest (number) winner, 1949." They will be displayed in windows of downtown stores upon arrival here.

Others on the Jaycee committee are: Russell Hackett, Louis Weirick and Horace Schwartz.

The Lighting contest entry blank will be found on page 5.

Car Badly Damaged In Truck Collision

A car driven by Kenneth C. Close of R. D. 1, North Lima, was damaged at 11:35 p. m. Wednesday when it collided with the rear of a tractor-trailer on N. Lincoln ave. at 10th st.

The tractor-trailer, driven by William R. Stitt of Pittsburgh, was pulling out of the Mack Beverage Co. drive, turning south on Lincoln, when it stalled.

Close told police he was blinded by the lights of an oncoming car and did not see the truck until too late. He skidded the car 35 feet before it went under the end of the trailer.

The front end of the car was damaged considerably, while only the tail light on the trailer was broken.

Tells Newsmen Experts Studying Repeal Of Wartime Excise Taxes

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 15 —(AP)—President Truman said today treasury and congressional staff experts are making studies to determine whether war-time excise taxes can be repealed.

In a surprise vacation news conference, the President declined to say whether he will ask new taxes of congress.

However, he said it was always his aim to balance the budget.

Reminded he had told a news conference in Washington recently he knew of no way to wipe out a deficit other than by raising taxes, he was asked if he still felt that way..

He said the whole matter was under consideration by a treasury committee of experts and by staff experts for the house ways and means committee. He said they were working harmoniously.

Walking into the press room on the Navy's bachelor officers quarters here, the President suddenly went into a press conference on which he gave no advance warning..

A recent statement by Secretary of Commerce Sawyer suggesting elimination of war-time excise taxes to aid business was called to his attention. Asked if he agreed with Sawyer's proposals, he said the question was under consideration by the experts.

The matter will be covered in the budget message, he said.

Budget Director Frank Pace said last week he saw no way to balance the 1951 fiscal year budget without new taxes.

Did the President plan to ask new taxes?

That will have to be covered in the budget message that goes to congress in January, he replied.

Would the budget be balanced?

It has aways been his aim to have a balanced budget, Mr. Truman said.

The President said flatly he had not set any ceiling above which the 1951 fiscal year (starting next July 1) budget could go.

No, he declared, you can't make up a budget that way.

Under questioning on other matters, the President:

1. Denied revising a Navy list of recommended promotions from captain to admiral to eliminate Captain Arleigh A. Burke for his opposition to some phase of the unification program. He said the list was still on his desk, that no name had been added or subtracted and that it was the only list.

2. Said he hasn't chosen successors to David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission or Dr. Edwin G. Nourse as chairman of the Economic Advisory Council. Nor was he ready to announce a successor to Clark M. Clifford, who is leaving as his special counsel.

12 Or 13 Burn In Texas Farm Home

ROTAN, Tex., Dec. 15—(AP)—Twelve or thirteen people burned to death today in a four-room rental house on a farm eight miles northeast of here.

All were Latin-American transient farm workers, employed on the C. A. Douhit farm.

Two families made up the victims. The last name of one family was Perez. Names of the victims were otherwise not available.

It was believed four adults—the two sets of parents—and eight or nine children perished.

Blackened ruins of the four-room frame house were found at 9 a. m.

Rotan is in West Texas about 50 miles northwest of Abilene, Tex.

Santa and the Magician

Chapter 10

A PRESENT FOR HENRY

HENRY ran back to Santa Land as fast as he could. Mr. Dilly and Serena were waiting for him in Santa's cottage.

"I've got it! I've got it!" cried Henry handing the wand to Mr. Dilly.

"Thank goodness!" cried Mr. Dilly. "When we woke and found you gone I did not know what to think. I couldn't come after you because Mrs. Claus asked me to stay and watch her cakes."

"Hippy dippy," broke in Serena. "You never seen such cakes as they are making for tomorrow's party. Come, boy, there are spoons to lick!"

"No, no," protested Mr. Dilly. "Tell us first how you found the wand."

So Henry told them about the strange Wiggle Waggles and how he feared them because of their fierce manners.

"Well, they can't be very bad since they gave you the wand," said Mr. Dilly.

Then he took the wand and put it in Santa's little black box. He felt wonderfully happy. "Now Santa never need know it was gone," he said thankfully as he shut the box and returned it to the corner. Neither he nor Henry dreamed that it wasn't Santa's wand but the Wiggle Waggles' wand which Zezop had wickedly traded.

"Now, come into the kitchen," said Mr. Dilly. "Mrs. Claus has left us to watch her cakes while she is at the ice house tending the ice cream."

A FUNNY LITTLE BROWNIE LED HENRY INTO A JIG.

WHAT cakes they were! As large as wash tubs and smelling so sweet a boy could hardly stand if he wanted a piece so badly. On the tables were great bowls of frosting: caramel, cocoanut, chocolate, orange, mocha.

And sure enough there were spoons to lick and Henry licked them.

Presently Mrs. Claus came in and said, "Come with me, Henry. I need your help."

She took him to the ice house—which really was a big house made of cakes of ice. There were fourteen ice cream freezers—each as big as a cement mixer.

"My," said Mrs. Claus. "I don't know how I'll get everything ready on time. I still have the favors to make. I do wish you would stay here and keep tasting the ice cream until it tastes right to you. Then turn off the freezers."

What a job for a boy! With spoon and saucer in hand Henry moved from freezer to freezer, tasting as he went.

By then it was time to turn off the freezers, which was a lucky thing for Henry, I think. He came out of the ice house and went to the toy shop nearby.

What confusion!

The little Santa Land folk worked madly at their benches, putting heads on dolls, blowing up footballs, driving nails into wagons, painting tops, and a hundred other jobs which had to be done before Christmas.

As they worked they sang and whistled and sometimes even dropped everything while they danced a jig on the work table. Of course this slowed things up a little but it made them happy and of course only truly happy people can make good toys.

Still, it made old Patrick Tweedleknees furious. He stomped around the shop pounding his fists on the tables.

"We might as well give up Christmas," he stormed. "No one does any work except me. Stop that dancing! Stop that noise!"

No one paid the slightest attention. Instead, a funny little brownie with enormous feet saw Henry and darting to his side he snatched his hands and led him into a jig.

Tweedleknees threw up his hands. "The party has started already, it would seem," he said sourly.

"Of course it has," cried a lovely fairy and before Tweedleknees could help himself she had caught his arm and led him into the dance!

Then everyone joined in and what a sight it was to see as they all leaped and hopped from table to bench to floor, round and round the shop, with Patrick Tweedleknees the liveliest of them all.

Finally, gasping for breath, Henry said he must leave, for Mr. Dilly would be wondering where he was.

"Wait, wait," cried Patrick Tweedleknees hobbling up and taking Henry's arm. "That was the merriest dance I ever had, boy, and you were the cause of it. Here, now, here's a little Christmas gift for you." He handed Henry a tiny box wrapped in tissue and tied with red ribbon.

Henry was so happy and so surprised he could hardly keep his fingers steady as he pulled eagerly at the ribbon.

But Tweedleknees shouted, "No no!"

Henry looked up in dismay.

"Do not open until Christmas!" said Tweedleknees sternly but giving Henry, all the same, his very nicest smile.

Next: The Party.

Gas Explodes, Injures Six

Detroit Business Block Gutted

DETROIT, Dec. 15—(AP)—Wild gas exploding in flaming fury wrecked five stores and injured six persons here last night.

Quick warnings before the barrage-like blasts let go, police said, saved many lives.

Four firemen and a policeman, along with a store employe, were hurt.

The explosions shook northwest Detroit for three miles around a business neighborhood at Wyoming and Schoolcraft avenues.

The first explosion occurred at the Greater Wyoming market shortly after 8 p. m. Then other explosions ripped through four other stores in the same block.

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. said gas from a high pressure main got out of control as a crew of four company employes were installing a regulator on a line leading into the Greater Wyoming market.

Gas shot into the building. The gas company workers fled, sounded a warning, turned in a fire alarm and called for an emergency crew.

Before the gas let go, police halted traffic and warned residents to leave their homes.

Property damage was estimated at $75,000 by Fire Chief Ninnian Higby.

Pennsylvania Railroad Revises Award System

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 15—The Pennsylvania Railroad has expanded its system of awards for long terms of service to embrace 40-year and 25-year employes.

Heretofore, gold buttons have been awarded for 50 years of service, but the awards will now include a 40-year silver button and a 25-year bronze button. Veterans entitled to buttons will be called before officials of the road and the awards made in the presence of fellow employes.

Agent Minor Lodge and Section Foreman Ralph Russell, eligible for 40-year and 25-year buttons, are probably the only Columbiana employes who can participate at this time.

PAY BACK WAGES

STEUBENVILLE, Dec. 15—(AP)—Some $30,000 in back wages will be paid to 300 employes of the Hancock Manufacturing Co.'s plants in Toronto, O., and New Cumberland, W. Va., the firm announced yesterday. The money was withheld from wages in 1947 pending completion of a study on reclassification of jobs.

College Studies Business Needs

Denison Seeking Courses To Fill Bill

GRANVILLE, Dec. 15—(AP)—A program to find out what types of college graduates the business world wants—and then supply them—is under way at Denison University.

Formation of the Denison business council to create closer ties between the Granville school and business and industry was announced yesterday by University President Kenneth I. Brown.

"Denison has long felt that better understanding and improved relations between business and education would result if each group was better informed as to the aims and accomplishments of the other," he said.

Prominent companies in the business and industrial world will be asked to encourage business associations with students and to provide case material for classroom study.

Selected students will work summers to gain first-hand knowledge of basic economic and business principles, and to learn what careers they want to follow after school days are over.

The mutual program, Brown said, will develop better potential management material and make for "better citizenship and sounder understanding of basic economic and business principles (by) an important and eager segment of society."

Non-Union Workers To Get Pension Plan

CANTON, Dec. 15 — (AP)—Some 1,000 hourly rated Timken Roller Bearing Co. employes who are not members of the CIO-United Steelworkers will be eligible for a contributor pension plan effective Jan. 1, the company says.

The plan still is under study, says William Umstattd, Timken president. Some workers affected are in plants not covered by the CIO—at Colorado Springs, Colo., and Bucyrus, O. The rest work in plants at Canton, Wooster, Columbus, Mount Vernon and Zanesville, O. They were not included in Monday's strike-ending contract with the CIO Steelworkers.

Umstattd said the plan being studied calls for contributions by employes toward pensions and a company-paid social insurance program.

The contract signed with the Steelworkers calls for company paid pensions (except for the federal social security benefit portion) and a contributory insurance program.

Temporary Certificates In Ohio Decrease

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(AP)—The number of Ohio high school teachers holding temporary certificates has declined from 1,051 as of 1948, to 428, says the state education department.

However, 3,508 elementary teachers now hold temporary certificates, compared to 3,109 last year, according to Howard J. Bowers, supervisor of teacher education and certification.

All teachers in Athens, Bowling Green, Campbell, Kenton and St. Bernard hold regular certificates, he said.

WILLYS LAYOFF REPORTED

TOLEDO, Dec. 15—(AP) — D. G. Roos, first vice president of Willys-Overland Motors, said yesterday that about 3,500 production workers will be laid off indefinitely tomorrow. During the layoff tools and dies for building station wagon bodies will be installed.

THE PILOT CRIED. American Airlines Capt. Laurens (Tommy) Claude, 52, pilot of the ill-fated DC-6 airliner which crashed and burned at Dallas, Tex., Nov. 29, breaks into tears and sobs while telling a Civil Aeronautics investigation board how the crash occurred. Twenty-eight lives were lost in the crash.

Railroad Earnings "Not Bright", Claim

CINCINNATI, Dec. 15—(AP)—The earning situation of the nation's railroads was described to the Ohio Valley Transportation advisory board yesterday as "not promising."

Arthur H. Cass of Washington, chairman of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads, told the advisory board that the present earning capacity of the railroads does not encourage the investment of additional new capital in improvements.

Cass declared that since 1939 unit costs of operation have increased by 100 per cent while freight rates have advanced only 57 per cent and passenger fares 34 per cent.

"You realize that there are practical limits to the ability of railroads to bridge this gap between revenues and costs by further increases in the charge for service," he said.

GRANGE SESSION ENDS

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(AP)—The Ohio State grange will end its three-day annual meeting today. Resolutions will be reported and voted upon at the closing session.

Jury Makes Error, Signs Wrong Verdict

LANCASTER, Dec. 15—(AP)—Fairfield county jurors signed the wrong slip yesterday, and Charles Clark, 68, of Carroll, was found "guilty"—for a moment—on a charge of failure to stop after an accident.

But the error was quickly rectified, and the intended verdict, not guilty, was entered in the records.

Through an error, Clerk Isaac Rowles said, jurors had signed a printed form of "verdict guilty." Each juror later signed the proper form of "not guilty."

WARREN MAN KILLED

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Dec. 15—(AP)—W. J Teson, 58, of Warren, O who was visiting two daughters here, was fatally injured Tuesday night when struck by an automobile. Police Sgt. Paul McMahan said the driver of the automobile was held for investigation of manslaughter pending an inquest today.

Target For 1952

Dwight D. Eisenhower, who probably expected it, is beginning to learn what it's like to be under a political bombardment.

Whether the general actually is in politics, or is only behaving like a man who intends to get into politics, he has been designated as a target for the big guns of unionism.

The strategy is obvious, Gen. Eisenhower is a potential candidate for the presidency in 1952. He was a potential candidate in 1948, until he removed himself from further consideration.

In 1948, the same big guns of unionism now blasting away at him were loaded with honeyed praise. They wanted him to run in place of Harry Truman, because they thought Eisenhower could win and Truman couldn't.

They still think Eisenhower could win, if he ran in 1952. But they know now that if he did run he'd be running in opposition to Mr. Truman's handout government; he has minced no words about his opposition to that version of government. Therefore, their job is to discredit him in advance. That's politics. The big guns of unionism want no part of any White House occupant they can't control. That's why they have spent great sums of money from union treasuries and levies on union members to discredit Senator Taft.

The most that Gen. Eisenhower can hope for, whether or not he intends to get into politics, is that his detractors will turn out to be a credit to him and his point of view. They haven't hurt Senator Taft. In fact, they've helped to make him the symbol of opposition to the kind of government his critics would like to have—a puppet government dedicated to the endless appeasement of a pressure bloc. If they blast hard enough, they can make Gen. Eisenhower feel just as determined to blast back as Senator Taft was—years before his closest friends knew whether the general believed in the handout state or the old-fashioned American model.

Arithmetic Problem

The ultimate key to all pensions, both private and public, is ability to solve the arithmetic problem they create. Contrary to what politicians like to think about pensions and all other kinds of security, vastly more than humanitarianism is involved.

It won't be the people whose hearts bleed perennially for the underprivileged who will meet pension obligations. Nor will it be the people shrewd enough to know that the pension issue is good politics at this particular time in American history. It will be accountants who will take over responsibility when the tumult and shouting have died down and nothing it heard but the orderly whirr and clack of adding machines.

Accountants do not deal with political issues. They are not concerned with human rights, needs, hopes, aspirations, fears and misgivings. They are concerned only with the orderly handling of figures, representing facts and realities. And they are concerned, as all persons who deal with realities must be, lest certain realities be overlooked by wishful thinkers.

Such things are now beginning to be talked about by responsible spokesmen for major sources of wealth, men like Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corp. "There is apparently no limit to the generous things which might be done by government," he told a group of manufacturers recently. But he then went on to say, regarding pensions, that the limit on generosity is ability to pay. And since government produces no wealth itself but only makes and enforces the rules under which wealth is produced by others, it therefore behooves politicians to make more certain than ever before that they don't kill the goose that lays the golden eggs; i. e., the eggs that will underwrite the security which a welfare state is promising to provide.

Everybody's Problem

It looks as if the threat of a coal shortage caused by a United Mine Workers strike had been suspended indefinitely.

Somewhere between John L. Lewis's edict of a three-day week for the union miners and the coal operators ways and means of meeting the demand for coal is a point of adequate production.

Aside from any question of industrial relations in the coal industry is the fact that it operates under the handicap of imminent overproduction which would force many miners and operators out of business if the most efficient mines were run at maximum capacity.

This is everybody's problem. The coal industry's problems cannot be quarantined. They cannot be disregarded. Like the problems of farmers, they must be recognized as a common responsibility.

Ideally, there would be a systematic effort to solve them. Instead of being left to the tender mercies of a John L. Lewis, who sees them only from the viewpoint of a labor leader and a lifelong antagonist of management, the problems would be made the subject matter of a cooperative study.

Owners, managers, workers and unionists would be brought together under the auspices of the government to reach agreement on fundamental principles for dealing with the coal problem. They would try to arrive at an agreement on what the problem is. Their ultimate goal would be to end once and for all the chaos that has made it possible for one man to play dictator by taking advantage of the chaos within a basic American industry.

The Instinct of Freedom

The Ohio Supreme court has ruled unanimously that Ohio voters cannot be deprived of the potential benefit of their decision to change the ballot form in future general elections. This clears the way for the next step, which is a special session of the General Assembly to make necessary changes in the statutory laws concerning the conduct of elections.

The new office-type ballot whose use now is assured, barring the possibility of further obstructionism by those who don't want it, is the product of the instinct of freedom among ordinary citizens. It was fought tooth and nail by the most formidable political bloc in Ohio—the big-city machine bosses allied with labor leaders. They feared the loss of the votes they customarily roll up in industrial centers through the practice of straight-ticket voting.

A majority of Ohioans on election day registered their opinion that the interests of the state in future elections would be better served by whittling down the influence of big-city political machines. They have made a start in that direction. They have caused Ohio to adopt a ballot form which will make it more difficult for political bosses to have their way.

Half the Distance to the Goal

While more thoughtful minds search out the larger consequences of the merger in professional football, perhaps a passing comment is in order for what has happened to professional football players.

They have been penalized half the distance to the goal—the goal in this case, being enough money to live on in comfort when they grew too old to bounce back from a weekly beating.

The existence of two competing professional football leagues was the greatest thing that ever happened to football players at the post-graduate level. It lifted formerly modest salaries up to impressive heights. It put a premium on any player who could make a coach look like a genius. And it proved to be one of the main reasons why the competing leagues finally negotiated a settlement of their rivalry; it was costing them too much.

It will be cheaper to operate professional football with only one league, not only because there will be fewer players but because the players all will be subject to the same regulations, which means their services will be less costly. Consolidation of the leagues, whatever else it means, is no Christmas present to some 25 tons of assorted football players.

Dead End Street

The apparent reason for defeat of New Zealand's labor party government last Nov. 30 was too many years of power.

For 14 years, New Zealand's labor party socialists had put into effect the steps of a program to collectivize everything in the country. Finally, there was nothing left undone. The paralysis of individual enterprise was complete.

At that point, the socializers ran out of steam. They had accomplished a "reform" which made no one happy, except their own theorists. There was nothing left to do.

They had steered the New Zealanders into a dead end street and the only political issue left undecided was whether or not there would be room enough at the end of the street to turn around and head out again. The labor cabinet resigned Wednesday.

Next Tuesday, New Zealand will get a new government, elected on an anti-socialist platform. It's problematic whether any country led into the political cul-de-sac of socialism can escape. But it's a dead cinch that any country which takes up socialism as a national policy is entering into a blind alley, with disillusionment at the other end.

Looking Backward

"Coming Along, Governor?"

FEPC And Its Chances

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

WHEN congress returns in 1950 you can expect a repetition of what happened this year. A filibuster.

The Truman administration is going to try for an early vote on the bill to set up an FEPC (Fair Employment Practices Commission).

The result? Pretty surely zero.

The FEPC bill would forbid an employer to discriminate against a job-seeker because of his race, color or religious belief.

It's part of President Truman's civil rights program. Other parts of it call for federal laws to outlaw lynching and the poll tax.

And the result if the Trumanites try to put through those other parts of the program? Pretty surely zero, too.

-:-

MR. TRUMAN took a strong stand on the civil rights program in the 1948 elections in which he was elected president and the Democrats won control of congress.

But the Trumanite Democrats lost control of congress when, shortly after congress opened this year, they tried to clear the way for bringing up a civil rights bill and thus fulfill Mr. Truman's campaign pledges.

At that point the southern Democrats, deeply embittered by the Civil rights program, split off from the Truman Democrats and filibustered. They did it so successfully that they prevented any civil rights bill from being considered in the senate in 1949.

What happened as a result of that filibuster will have an important effect on what happens in 1950.

Before the filibuster started, this was the situation in the senate: There was no limit on debate—or a filibuster—unless two-thirds of the senators on the floor voted to stop it.

(And, of course, unless a filibuster could be stopped the senate could not reach a point of voting on the measure which was being filibustered.

-:-

BUT UNDER the arrangement then in effect if only 90 or 80 or 70 senators were present on the floor, two-thirds plus one of them could stop the filibuster. But, before the 1949 filibuster was over, this happened:

The senate, with Republicans joining the southern Democrats, made this rule for the future:

Now a filibuster can't be stopped unless two-thirds, of the total 96 senators vote to stop it, whether or not all 96 are present on the floor. That's tougher to get than just two-thirds of those merely present at any voting time.

That's what the Trumanites face in 1950 if they try to bring up up the FEPC bill and a filibuster starts.

Some senators are so set against any limit on senate debate that they might vote against stopping a filibuster even though they might be willing to vote for FEPC once the filibuster was over.

If the Trumanites lose on the civil rights issue during the congressional session in 1950, they can use it as a campaign issue—in the congressional elections later in 1950—to get more Trumanites elected. Particularly among Negro voters.

Baldness Is Dignified

By TRUMAN TWILL

WORTHWHILE progress is being made at last toward the popularization of baldness. Abe Burrows, a radio and television funster who happens to be bald himself, has put momentum into the drive with his novel approach to the condition.

1. Burrows does not admit that baldness is an aberration. He claims it is natural to be bald, unnatural to have hair.

2. He is funning away with a non-existent product which he calls Sta-Bald—It Keeps Baldness Neat.

Only those who know what it's like to be singled out for ridicule because of baldness can know what this sort of stout counterattack means. Because the truth of the matter is there is nothing freakish about being bald, except the attitude of those with hair.

Having no other legitimate claim to distinction, these freaks fall back on the fact they have hair, which is about as signal a distinction as the fact they have dandruff on their collars.

They seek refuge in their hairiness, as it were, because they have nothing else to hide what otherwise would be revealed to the world as a ludicrous shortcoming; namely, the contour of their misshapen skulls. Here is the real key to the whole problem of a more dignified status for men who are bald.

Thel have nothing to hide. Therefore they do not hide it. They shed their hair deliberately, taking savage pride in the beauty of their unadorned heads. They feel that here at least is something they can bestow on mankind out of the generosity of their spirits.

They will never be satisfied, moreover, until they can persuade all other men to be equally generous. They would like to shear the English sheep dog camouflage from all men who pose as more that what they really are. In short, they would like to make it compulsory for every male over 40 to come out of hiding so the whole world can see whether his head is flat, or whether it has those distinguished bumps and knobs which bespeak membership in the higher echelons of civilization.

This would bring to light all the hidden evidence of scars and bumps incurred in former mishaps, including brawls. The hairless head of a man is an open book, so to speak, which all may read. There are no secret passages. If the owner has a hole in his head, either figuratively or literally, it is in plain sight, not artfully hidden from prying eyes with a lock of hair.

Bald-headed men owe a debt of gratitude to Funnyman Burrows for being proud of his unadorned noggin and for shifting the burden of proof to those who manifest a spurious superiority by making wisecracks at the expense of their betters. It is the haired, not the hairless, who have something to explain. Start talking, muggs. And first brush away those untidy locks so we can see who you are.

Planned Economy

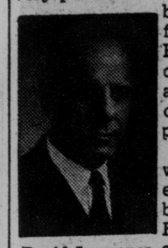
Sir Stafford Chides U. S. Directions

WASHINGTON

WITH all the talk of deficit financing and unbalanced Budgets in America, something very pertinent has just been said by Sir Stafford Cripps, the British secretary of the treasury, about the habits of democratic peoples.



David Lawrence

Sir Stafford was asked several questions by Charles H. Kline, associate editor in London for "U. S. News & World Report," and one of these queries was as follows:

"The American people now are debating whether to go in for more and more social security measures. As a general proposition, although politically popular, do you figure that social security can be made economically soun din a democracy where people can vote themselves bigger and bigger benefits?"

Sir Stafford's reply was this.:

"That depends upon the responsibility of the democracy. Of course, if a democracy takes so irresponsible a view of its obligations that it only regards the Treasury as a deep till into which it can perpetually dip its hands, I should personally suggest giving up democracy.

"But that is not how we look at it in this country. We feel that it is quite possible, by giving people the information and the knowledge of economic facts, to instill into them a realization that they themselves are in fact paying for their own social benefits by taxation and by other means, and that therefore they must exercise restraint in the way which they utilize those benefits and also in the amount of them they demand.

"There is a tendency, of course, as I told parliament last year and the year before, for parliament, which has always been regarded as the guardian of finance, rather to become the perpetal demander of fresh expenditure But that I think it only a temporary phase. I believe that any democracy assembly of that kind must and will realize its responsibilities on these matters."

CERTAINLY THE so-called "welfare state" of which Sir Stafford Cripps is the economic head is faced with the very difficulties that confront the American people and, if the spending proclivities of the national legislature are unchecked, there is no way to assure solvency.

Sir Stafford may be a bit optimistic as to the capacity of self-governing units to restrain their spending, especially when politics makes votes by means of constant government handouts, but it is reassuring nevertheless to observe that in Britain, as elsewhere, the dangers of reckless spending by government are being recognized.

Incidentally, in the same copyrighted interview, Sir Stafford administered what might be construed as a gentle reproof of those Americans who have been berating planned economy on this side of the Atlantic but who have been offering various blueprints for the economy of other countries to which Marshall Plan aid is being given. The question and answer on this point are particuwas:

"In the United States there is lary enlightening. The query sometimes the argument that the economic situation abroad would right itself if left alone, but does there actually appear to you to be any alternative to government planning and considerable direction of the British economy?"

TO THIS, Sir Stafford answered:

"No, I think so far as our economy is concerned—I cannot, of course, judge of other people's economy—it is absolutely essential that there should be some direction from the center. Indeed every international arrangement one is asked to come to must inevitably entail a certain amount of direction.

"In other words, you cannot internationally plan unplanned economies. It is a contradiction in terms. Planning internationally, which is being so forcibly impressed upon us by our American friends, implies that the governments of the different countries must be able to carry out by direction, or by planning, the various requisities of the international plan Otherwise, international plan. Otherwise, international planning, of course, falls to the ground."

There is a veiled warning in this to America. It is, in effect, suggested that the United States without any "planning" is nevertheless trying to direct the 'planning" by other countries, whereas the British worry is whether America's economy may really run into major difficulties because it isn't "planned."

Merry Christmas

By PEARL WALKER

MANY lands and many ages have contributed to the present-day American Christmas, which is a legal holiday in every state in the union. However, this is not by national authority, but by the sanction of the state itself.

The first observance of Christmas was in A. D. 98, according to legend. There is no record of any celebration of the day during Christ's life.

"Merry Christmas," which probably has been quoted and written more than any two words is said to be typical of England. "Merrie, the old Saxon word, meant pleasant and agreeable, and not gay and lively as our English word.

Five towns in the United States have been named Christmas. They are located as follows:

Gila county, Arizona; Orange county, Florida; Lawrence county, Kentucky; Bolivar county, Mississippi and Roane county, Tennessee.

A lake by the name of Christmas is located in Scott county, Minnesota. There are two islands by the name of Christmas. One in the Indian ocean is 190 miles south of Java, while the other is in the Central Pacific near Fanning. Both are British possessions.

First real Christmas cards are said to have been printed at London in 1846. There were almost 1,000 copies, which was considered a large sale. It was in the 60's that the custom of using cards for Christmas became popular.

Einar Holboell, Copenhagen, Denmark, postal clerk, in 1904 idea and the first Christmas seal The city was in need of a children's hospital, and Holboell conceived the idea of selling decorative stamps for on Christmas letters and packages as a means of financing the project. The Danish royal family endorsed the idea andd the first Christmas seal was designed and placed on sale in a postoffice of that country.

Miss Emily O. Bissell of Wilmington, Del., is credited with organizing the first Christmas seals sale in the United States. As a result, a $3,000 tuberculosis pavilion was built.

Holly, favorite Christmas green is grown in practically all countries of the world. There are more than 150 varieties. It is said that the ancients used it in their Christmas winter festivals as a symbol of immortality, because it bore fruit in the winter season.

Mistletoe, not as common as holly, is reputed from ancient times to be a "symbol of hope, an image of eternity." Unlike other plants it does not grow from the soil but it "falls from the sky" and grows in branches of trees. Mistletoe is a parasite, nourished "at the expense of the tissues of its vegetal support, though it does not diminish the vitality of a vigorous tree unless the clusters are exceptionally prolific."

In Spain, Italy, and some other countries, flowers are used, instead of evergreens, for the Christmas festival.

The poinsettia, used extensively in holiday decorations and for gifts, is distinctively American and has no Christmas tradition. A native of Central America and Mexico, the plant was adapted some years ago to cultivation by Dr. Poinsett of Charleston, S. C.

Custom of Christmas giving comes fro mthe ancient Romans, who distributed gifts during their midwinter festival.

CIO Appalled By Steel Hike Rumor

Believe Price Rise Out Of Line Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—A CIO spokesman said today the labor organization is "simply appalled by rumors of pending steel price increases."

Everett Kassalow, executive secretary of the CIO full employment committee, made the statement in testimony prepared for hearings of the senate-house economic committee. He was called before a sub-committee which is studying ways to attract investment capital to small businesses.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said a steel price increase would be "out of line" and would call for a congressional inquiry.

The increase which they referred to was forecast by Benjamin Fairless, president of the U. S. Steel Corp., in Chicago yesterday.

Fairless blamed the recent freight rate boost and the pension plan won by Philip Murray's CIO Cteelworkers for the increased cost which necessitated the price rise.

The CIO's Kassalow argued: "Here is a situation where leading steel corporations made almost unbelievable profits in their last full quarter before the strike, and are now operating at even higher levels of capacity.

"Yet, on the pretext that material costs are up, they are getting ready to bilk the public again.

"We earnestly request the joint committee to look into this scandalous situation. After all, it is less than three months since a federal fact-finding board concluded that in the light of the tremendous steel profits, price reductions—not increases—were in order."

95-Year-Old 'Sitter' Rescues Baby Girl

TOLEDO, Dec. 15—(AP)—Leroy Kraut, 95-year-old baby sitter, carried 18-month old Linda Cox to safety last night when a fire broke out in the infant's bed room.

Firemen led Jerry Cox, 3, and Miss Rosetta Edelstein, a roomer, down a ladder, while a passerby rescued a third child, James, 6.

They are children of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cox, who were at a movie at the time.

Electric Appliance Store Change Announced

Announcement is made of the purchase of the Columbiana Electric Co., store at 536 E. State st. by Paul D. Williams from Loyal C. Phillips. The name of the firm is to be changed to the Williams Appliance Center.

The store will carry a complete line of Westinghouse electrical appliances and new lines of television sets, including R. C. A., Westinghouse and Admiral, Williams said.

The new owner is originally from Weirton, W. Va., and is making his home at 873 S. Union ace. He worked for Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. from 1941 until the present time.

John Shea is store manager.

Taft Continues Statewide Report

OTTAWA, Dec. 15—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft comes to this Putnam county seat today for a three-speech attack on government spending policies which he claims are pushing the national debt upward and encouraging "the handout state."

The Cincinnati Republican's program for today included an address to Putnam county farmers at the courthouse at 2 p. m., a Kiwanis dinner speech and another address at the courthouse tonight.

Taft made seven speeches in Cleveland yesterday, and now has made 300 talks in 75 of the state's 88 counties.

In a lecture at Cleveland College last night Taft declared:

"Deficit spending brings inflation, depression of dollar savings, insurance and government bonds and then instability and depression. Deficit spending brings irresponsible spending in greater quantity and still increased deficits. It encourages all projects for the handout state."

MORE NORONIC VICTIMS

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 15—(AP)—Bodies of two more Cleveland, O., victims of the Noronic ship fire last September were identified yesterday. Death certificates were issued for Mrs. W. G. Haag, 52, and Mrs. Thomas J. Malloy, 62.

Columbiana Legion Home To Be Ready

COLUMBIANA, Dec. 15—Firestone Legion Post expects to have its remodeled quarters on N. Pearl st., ready for occupancy soon after the first of the year.

Members of the post have been helping with the finishing touches, including painting, and expect to have the second floor completed this week. Post meetings will be held in the enlarged auditorium on the second floor.

Considerable work remains to be done on the first floor, which members can do in the evenings. A television set has been purchased and will be installed as soon as the remodeling will permit its use.

The next semi-monthly meeting was to be Monday, Dec. 26 but will be dispensed with on account of the holiday.

Hodgkin's Disease and X-Ray

HODGKIN'S disease is more common in young people than in older ones and more frequent in men than in women. It has been reported from every part of the world.

Dr. Jordan

There is no danger of catching it from a patient. The first sign is usually but not always enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck. The swollen glands are not painful.

After a while, perhaps months or years later, glands in other parts of the body may become enlarged. The victim generally feels well for a long time, but gradually anemia tends to develop. A small amount of fever may be present and the patient slowly becomes thin.

The patient with Hodgkin's disease usually goes through periods or remarkable improvement. The enlarged lymph gland may disappear almost completely and the general condition may improve for a long time.

The lymph glands and the spleen which are affected in Hodgkin's disease are part of a chain or group of tissues, called the reticuloendothelial system. The fact that this system is attacked has raised the question of some infection being at fault. So far, however, no germ or virus has ever been proved as the cause.

The favorite form of treatment has been X-rays. This often causes improvement lasting for months at a time. Treatment with drugs has not been particularly successful.

Recently there have been several favorable reports on the treatment of patients with Hodgkin's disease with preparations called "mitrogen mustards." These substances seem to be quite helpful for some patients who have become resistant to X-rays.

Two or three years ago a Hodgkin's Research Foundation to support investigations on this disease was established.

NATIONAL GUARD LARGER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—Ohio's National Guard has 15,748 officers and men today, compared to less than 11,000 in June of 1940, the Department of Defense reported. In noting that the Ohio Guard is a bigger and better equipped outfit than before the war, the department cited an air wing and such equipment as rockets, amphibious vehicles, light and automatic weapons and a striking force of armored cavalry.

Rev. Ogden Relates Yule Story To Club

MARGARET Sangster's Christmas story, "The Birth of Christ," was adopted by Rev. Harold L. Ogden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, for an inspirational talk to members of the Travelers Club Tuesday afternoon in the public library assembly room.

The story is told in retrospect by a young man looking back on his birth when he was abandoned at an inn on the outskirts of Bethlehem because he was born a hunchback.

Uncared for, but exploited by the innkeeper, he was sent to live in a stable. One midwinter's eve he stepped out to offer the stable to Joseph and Mary, when there was no room for them at the inn.

He spread his ragged cloak on the hay and later after the Christ-child was born, he again put on his cloak to find that his "hump" was gone and that he could stand upright. Kneeling in fervent prayer, he repeats the song of the angels, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." For the first time there is peace and good will in his heart.

The musical part of the program was given by members of the Music study Club. Mrs. Carl J. Beecher, president, contributed two cello solos, "Sicilienne" and "Song Without Words."

Mrs. Otis Rhodes, Jr., sang "Virgin Slumber Song" and "Night of Nights" with viola obligato by Mrs. M. P. Livingston. Mrs. Walter J. Hunston was the accompanist.

A trio, Mrs. Beecher, cello; Mrs. Livingston, viola, and Mrs. Hunston, piano, offered three numbers, "Adagietto," 'A Moorish Night Song" and "Gesu Bambino."

The charmingly appointed tea table was covered with a lace cloth. Dickens' characters figurines, pine boughs and white candles in silver candelabra made the unusual setting. Mrs. C. H. Hurlburt and Mrs. Burtt Leeper presided.

Mrs. G. A. Roose and Mrs. Harry C. Krohne headed the committee in charge. They were assisted by Mrs. George B. Emeny, Mrs. Lea Cobbs, Miss Myra Erwin, Miss Mary Wolcott, Mrs. William Deming, Mrs. Henry Hurlburt. Mrs. Frederick Campbell and Mrs. Floyd W. McKee.

The next meeting is Jan. 3.

Christmas Party Held By BPW Club

BLUE ROOM of the Metzger Hotel was the scene for the beautiful Christmas dinner party of the Business and Professional Women's Club Wednesday evening.

The table was set in a U-shape. In the center was a profusion of pine in which were miniature sleighs filled with colored balls and of a Santa Claus and reindeer ornament. Clever novelty favors, which marked the places for 27 members and 11 guests, were made by Miss Mary Gill and Mrs Margaret Lamoncha. Other favors were given by Mrs. Karl Bonfert.

During the dinner, the Slippery Four (brass quartet) made up of Fred Theiss, James Bryan, Jack Leipper and William Schuller entertained with music. They were enthusiastically received. Mrs. Harold Babb, chairman of the music committee, arranged this feature.

Mrs. James Rawsthorne, member of the club, gave a helpful talk relating to Christmas decorations. Mrs. Lamonche, Ethel Earley and Mrs. William Park directed the games. Impersonating Santa Claus, Miss Martha Campbell, distributed the gifts.

The members brought a large number of gifts, which will be taken to the Home For Aged Women to make happy the family there.

A small decorated Christmas tree was taken to Miss Belle Golladay, a member who is in the Central Clinic recovering from injuries sustained in an accident.

Mrs. Enid Zarbaugh was general chairman for the party. She was assisted by Miss Campbell, Miss Daisy Fisher, Mrs. Lamonche, Miss Gill and Mrs. Sara Alton. All the members helped with the decorations.

The health, safety and legislation committee will be in charge of the Jan. 30 meeting.

Baptists Have Yule, Farewell Party

AT ONE OF THE nicest parties of the year Monday evening, members of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society combined the celebration of Christmas and a farewell to one of their members, Mrs. Wallace Bowker. The Bowkers leave next week to make their home in California.

A handkerchief from each society member was given Mrs. Bowker to remind her of her friends here.

"The Long Road," the story of Mary's return trip to Bethlehem 34 years after her son's birth was beautifully told by a guest. Mrs. Gertrude Stewart. The author, Margaret Sangster, has the mother of Jesus retrace her steps on a visit to the manger the year after He was crucified.

Mrs. Clyde Williams, president, introduced the speaker.

The Baptist chapel was decorated with pine and poinsettias in keeping with the season and electric candles illuminated the mantel and each window.

Christmas ball "trees" and pine were used effectively on the president's table. Gifts, placed beneath a Christmas tree, were distributed in "antonym" exchange.

The Christmas theme was continued in the worship service when Mrs. Frank Bruderly read of the birth of Christ according to St. Luke. The spirit of Christmas giving was emphasized in the Irving Bacheller story she told, entitled, "An Eben Holden Christmas Story."

Miss Treva Bush, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Hammell, sang "Gesu Bambino."

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Howard Foltz, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. Fred Blevins, Mrs. Elizabeth Eckhart and Mrs. William Sproat, Sr. They served a tray lunch.

Last Minute Baseball Trades Led By Giant-Brave Deal

Boston Unloads Pair Of Rebels

Browns Sell Priddy To Detroit Tigers

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(AP)—Baseball's biggest transaction in years—the New York-Boston deal that involved upwards of a half million dollars in talent—had buzzing bystanders asking today:

"Who got the better of the trade, the Giants or the Braves?"

In a spectacular 11th-hour swap, the Braves sent their double play combination of shortstop Alvin Dark and second baseman Eddie Stanky to the Giants in exchange for outfielders Sid Gordon, Willard Marshall, shortstop Buddy Kerr and pitcher Sam Webb.

This swap overshadowed three other big league trades, the most important of which sent St. Louis second baseman Gerry Priddy to Detroit for $100,000. The Browns acquired Pitcher Lou Kretlow in addition to the huge bundle of cash.

Priddy's sale added more than $200,000 to the Browns' exchequer, since late Tuesday night the club collected in excess of $100,000 plus four players from the Philadelphia Athletics for star third baseman, Bob Dillinger.

In a couple of other deals the Athletics traded third baseman Hank Majeski to the Chicago White Sox for relief pitcher Ed Klieman, and the St. Louis Cardinals re-acquired outfielder Harry Walker in exchange for flychaser Ron Northy and utility infielder Lou Klein. The Cards are to get another player, from the minors, at a future date.

Lovers of power and punch are of the belief that the Braves got much the better of the big National league deal. They point out that in giving up Gordon and Marshall the Giants sent a pair of sluggers who hit 38 home runs between them in 1949 for a pair who collected only four. Gordon blasted 26 round trippers, Marshall 12, Dark three and Stanky one. Kerr had none.

Advocates of the fast-fielding, heady-hit-and-run type of athlete think the Giants got the edge. They point out that despite the 169 home runs hit by the Gordon-Marshall duo during their five years with the club the Giants could finish no higher than third. Three times they finished in the second division.

On the other hand, the Braves won a pennant and finished fourth in the last two years that Stanky and Dark played with them.

Actually the deal appears certain to help both clubs. Each unloaded a pair of unwanted athletes. The only reluctance involved was Giant manager Leo Durocher's surrender of Gordon.

Dark and Stanky were ringleaders of the anti-Southworth clique that voted manager Billy Southworth a half-share of Boston's fourth place world series money last October.

Since the season's close, eibht of the dissension-shot Braves have been disposed of—many of them malcontents. The eight are: Jeff Heath, Bill Voiselle, Marv Rickert, Bill Salkeld, Nelson Potter, Red Barrett, Dark and Stanky.

Durocher certainly will shed no tears over the departure of Kerr and Marshall—and vice versa. The fiery Giant skipper has maintained since practically the first day he took over the club that the hard-hitting rightfielder and classy fielding shortstop were not his type of ball players.

Phog Allen Fights Back With "Goons"

LAWRENCE, Kas., Dec 15 — (AP)—Phog Allen, who lost his fight to raise basketball baskets two feet, has come up with some skyscraping players by way of rebuttal.

Some are so big it requires two pullman berths to bed one man comfortably.

Phog's team this year is the tallest in his 33 seasons as head coach at the University of Kansas.

For years he has campaigned to add a couple of feet to the 10-foot baskets. He feels it would "equalize the game" for tall and short players. But with little support on his campaign, he's turning to tall men.

Three of the players in a 13-man traveling squad occupied six berths on an overnight trip to Cincinnati, where they play tonight.

The headboards between Pullman berths had to be removed for Clyde Lovellette, 6 feet 9 inches, and Gene Petersen, and Jack Carby, both 6 feet, 7 inches.

BOB WATERFIELD
Los Angeles Rams

Van Buren, Speedie, Pihos Are Unanimous Selections On A. P. All-Pro Eleven

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(AP)—Three players from the Los Angeles Rams, western division champions of the National Football League, today were named on the Associated Press All-Pro team for 1949.

The Cleveland Browns, top team in the All-America Conference since its inception in 1946, gained two places as did the Philadelphia Eagles, for the third straight year winners of the eastern division in the National League.

The three Rams on the first team are triple-threat back Bob Waterfield, Center Fred Naumetz and Guard Dick Huffman. The two Browns are brilliant signal caller and passer Otto Graham and sensational pass catching end Mac Speedie. The two Eagles are Steve Van Buren, hardest runner in pro football, and Pete Pihos, terrific end.

In all, the National League gained six places. The other All-Pro from the senior circuit is Garrard Ramsey of the Chicago Cardinals. The other three places went to Chet Mutryn, 175-pound backfield workhorse of the Buffalo Bills; Arnie Weinmeister, giant tackle of the Brooklyn-New York Yankees and Guard Dick Barwegan of the Baltimore Colts.

The players were chosen after tabulating Associated Press sports writers' reports on the 17 major league pro teams in 12 cities.

A significant thing about the first team is that seven of the players were with teams in the final playoffs of the rival leagues.

The San Francisco 49ers, runnerup to Cleveland during the regular season, placed four men on the second team.

Three players — Van Buren, Speedie and Pihos—were unanimous selections in that they gained votes in every city in which they played during the season.

Van Buren now has made the team four of his six seasons since turning pro after starring for Louisiana State. Speedie has made the team the last three seasons while Pihos, a second team man last year, makes it for the first time.

Van Buren has carried the pigskin more than any other player this season and has gained well over 1,000 yards. About the only thing that can be said against him is that "he runs over his own men when they get in his way," to quote his coach, Earle (Greasy) Neale.

Speedie set two Conference records in one game here against the Yankees when he caught 11 passes for 228 yards. Speedie, a Utah alumnus, gained 1,028 yards by catching 62 passes in 12 games. He scored seven touchdowns.

The team includes six repeaters from the 1948 team. They are Graham, Van Buren, Speedie, Huffman, Ramsey and Barwegan. Waterfield returns as an All-Pro after missing out the last two seasons.

Graham led all the pros in total offense, gaining 2,892 yards on 312 plays. Graham, a wizard as a quarterback, this season threw 69 straight passes without interception. He also led both leagues in completions, with 161 out of 285 thrown. Nineteen of his tosses went for touchdowns.

Waterfield had one of his good years with the Rams. Besides pacing the National League in punting—one of his boots traveled 61 yards—he ranked among the top three in yards gained passing.

Mutryn is the smallest man on the team. Buffalo's 175-pound 5-10 halfback by way of Xavier drew an amazing amount of support even from coaches who voted on the conference All-Star team that plays in Houston, Tex., Sunday. The fleet-footed little back averaged 5.31 yards per parry on 131 rushing attempts.

All-Americans Cool To Pros

Only Jim Martin Sure He Wants To Play

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(AP)—Only one member of the 1949 college All-America—Jim Martin, the big Notre Dame tackle—is dead set on carrying on in professional football.

Four of the honored squad insist they definitely won't play for money while the other six are doubtful, their enthusiasm chilled by the recent merger of the two major pro circuits.

"It looks like the quick and easy money is gone," wailed Clayton Tonnemaker, the 245-pound center from Minnesota. "I'll probably try to capitalize on my physical education degree."

But in case the pros would like to dish out some of that heavy sugar, the Minneapolis boy added: "I'm listening."

Sharing the "undecided" fence with Tonnemaker are Leon Hart, the Notre Dame end who was voted the season's outstanding individual performer; his teammate, fullback Emil Sitko; halfback Doak Walker of Southern Methodist; guards Rod Franz of California and John Schweder of Pennsylvania.

"I definitely will not play pro football," said triple threat Charlie Justice, the two-time All-America halfback from North Carolina.

Stringing along with him are Arnold Galiffa, the talented T-quarterback of Army; Wade Walker, Oklahoma tackle, and Jim Williams, the Rice end.

Galiffa has three years of Army duty waiting for him after he gets out of West Point. He plans to make the Army his career.

Williams, who weighs only 185, said, "I'm not big enough for the pros. I'm just an all-round end and they want specialists these days." Wade Walker plans to coach.

Martin said it's his intention to have a fling at the pros, regardless of what the merger means. "I want to play a couple of years," he added..

His Notre Dame teammates, Hart and Sitko, want to wait and see, however.

Leetonia To Play Lisbon High Friday

The Leetonia Bears' 53-24 win over Beloit Tuesday night gave them a three game winning skein for the year and it appears that Leetonia has its best cage squad in years.

Coach Harold Morrow has piloted his squad to consecutive wins over Poland (55-31), Salineville (50-33) and Beloit. Friday night the Bears will entertain the Lisbon Blue Devils at home. Lisbon carries a record of one win and two setbacks.

Tuesday night the Bears will be host to New Waterford.

To date Bob Holt is pacing the Leetonia five in scoring, with 49 points. Don Stoffer is running second with 36 tallies.

Gordon Still Wants His Indian Release

EUGENE, Ore., Dec. 15—(AP)—Second baseman Joe Gordon told Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau by phone again yesterday that he still wanted a release. But Gordon said he admitted to the Indian baseball club boss that it didn't look like his wish would be granted.

Gordon, at his home here for the winter and busy at his ranch and hardware store, said Boudreau's call was mostly social. He said they talked of players and the league and briefly about his playing next year.

The big leaguer had indicated he would like to be released and join a Pacific Coast club so he could be closer to his home here.

Salem Juniors Win Fifth Tilt In Row

Recording their fifth straight win of the season, the Salem Junior High cagers had little trouble in disposing of the Lisbon Juniors 49-14 Wednesday night on the local floor.

Boone, Swetye and Llewellyn stood out for Salem, with Boone caging 10 points. Good team play featured the game.

Salem will play the preliminary game to the Varsity-Alumni tilt Saturday night against Maple Ridge.

Frosh Stop Lisbon 33-12 Wednesday

Frank Tarr's Freshman five took a 33-12 victory over the Lisbon Frosh Wednesday night at the High school.

Mellinger and Williams led the attack with 10 points each, as Salem jumped to a 20-12 halftime lead. Substituting freely, Tarr used 15 players in the game.

The next home game for the Frosh is Jan. 9 against Boardman.

A big 602 set by J. Ashman of the Tool Room 1 team in the Deming league was the best bowled Tuesday night at the Bowling Center. Ashman whipped in games of 202, 234 and 166 for his high total.

Floyd Vesey of the Dept. 7 team rolled a 591 for second high, and DeJane of Foundry 2 had 545.

Veteran Bob Tubbs was top man in the Service club league Tuesday, with a 572 set, which included 167, 202 and 203 games. Don Krauss of Amvets 1 carded a 546 and his teammate Gordy Scott shot 530.

The Amvets 1 team had the best total score, with 2575.

New Cage Rule Appears Doomed

Only One Coach Likes New Foul Setup

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15 — (AP)—If the college basketball coaches have their way, this will be the first and last year for the rule that gives a team fouled both a free shot and possession of the ball in the last two minutes of play.

An Associated Press survey of many of the nation's ranking cage mentors showed a decided disapproval of the rule put into effect this year with the hopes it would reduce intentional fouling in the waning minutes of the game.

A much smaller group said it is too soon to pass final judgment on the rule. A few favored different interpretations of the rule.

But of 36 coaches asked to express an opinion only Dr. F. C. (Phog) Allen came out wholeheartedly for it. The veteran University of Kansas coach would extend the two-minute rule to the entire game.

The rule calls for a time out while the free shot is being tried and until the ball is thrown into play from out of bounds by the team fouled. The Skyline conference lets the clocks continue. The Big Ten permits two free throws on any foul by the defensive team in the closing two minutes with the ball remaining in play after the second shot, if missed.

Others including Clair Bee of Long Island University and Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky would adopt the professional rule. It calls for a jump ball at the foul line if the free shot is made and taken out of bounds if missed.

In 24 seasons, Ty Cobbs compiled a lifetime batting average of .367.

Mullins Wins Over New Castle Combine

The Mullins Class A basketball team turned in a 43-40 victory Tuesday night over the United A A. team of New Castle on the latter's floor.

Mullins was led by Francis Lanney, who chalked up 16 points and Norm Smith, who notched 10.

Was Flag Made In Brewery?

Court Battle Over 'Old Glory' Rages

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 15—(AP) — Was the Star Spangled Banner made in a brewery?

Maryland's court of appeals heard this version of history yesterday in a dispute over the Star Spangled Banner flag house in Baltimore.

It was there Mary Pickersgill made the flag that flew over Fort McHenry in 1813 and inspired Francis Scott Key's national anthem, historians generally believe.

She completed the huge banner in the roomier confines of a nearby brewery, argued lawyers for one side in a lawsuit.

This was denied by the Star Spangled Banner Flag House Association, which said the flag was completed in a warehouse.

The state's highest court heard argument in a condemnation suit by which the City of Baltimore seeks to take over a three-story red-brick rooming house next door to the flag house, now operated by the Association as a public shrine.

The property would be converted into office space for the Flag Association as part of a plan to create a memorial square as "an inspiration" to patriotism.

Attorneys for Annie Flaccomio, owner of the rooming house, said the city has no right to take over the property.

Attorneys Human Ginsberg and Louis R. Milio quoted a Maryland guidebook as stating the flag was finished in a brewery.

"It could, of course, be argued that the brewery in which the flag was finally completed is entitled to as much glory as the so-called flag house," they said.

Ginsberg and Milio gave the size of the banner as 42 by 30 feet. Biddison said it was 29 by 36 feet. All agreed it had 15 stripes and 15 stars.

The court took the case under advisement.

Jr. High Pupils Keeping Busy

Yule Preparations Reaching Height

Junior High School pupils and teachers, numbering almost 400, are winding up a busy pre-Christmas week of many plays, songs, drawings, cut-outs and other activities adding to the school's yuletide celebration.

Christmas music was played in both first and second-floor halls between bells. Music downstairs was provided by Gloria Andrews, Kay Ferrall, Margaret Hanney, Carol Wilde and Nancy Beck, while entertainment upstairs was presented by Don Abe. Jeri Hochadel, Dale Horton and Tim Kennedy.

On Wednesday, grades one through six saw the full length movie, "Miracle on 34th Street," starring John Payne. Edmund Gwynn and Maureen O'Hara. This is the story of an old man who believes he is Santa Claus. Junior High pupils will see the movie Friday.

Monday and Tuesday, a first grade cast gave its Christmas play to grades one through six. Parents also attended a Tuesday performance.

A Christmas program will be held for grades one through six at 10:15 Friday morning in the hall around the tree. Third grade pupils, taught by Miss Margaret Floyd and Mrs. Bettie Reichert, will feature a 30-minute operetta. All other rooms will contribute a few numbers.

At 1:15 p. m. Friday the school orchestra, under the direction of Howard Pardee, Salem schools instrumental instructor, and the choir, under the direction of Miss Doris Tetlow, will give a 40-minute musical program in the upstairs hall.

Junior High school pupils also will hold their Christmas parties Friday afternoon. The trees on both floors were decorated by the children.

Yule Parties Held

On Thursday grades one through six had Christmas parties. Junior High pupils sang carols around the Christmas tree with Miss Tetlow in charge.

Barbara Cameron, 8E, recited "Keeping Christmas." An octet, composed of Barbara Cameron, Jackie Brelih, Marcia Kille, Nora Guiler, Gloria Andrews, Marjorie Jensen, Kay Ferral and Sharlene Stanto, sang "Angels We have Heard On High" and "An Old French Melody."

Mary Campbell, president of the Marionette club, handled announcing duties for the seventh grade and Shirley Miller, vice president of the glee club, represented the eighth grade.

Work To Begin Next Spring On Lisbon School

LISBON, Dec. 15—The Hayden-Miller Co. of Cleveland was the successful bidder among five investment houses seeking the purchase of the $405,000 bonds of the Lisbon board of education when bids were opened Wednesday afternoon, announced Clerk George C. Porter.

The bonds were sold to Hayden-Miller on their bid of 2 per cent interest rate and a premium of $412. The funds will finance construction of the new school building on W. Pine st., which is expected to begin early next spring.

HONORED AT COLLEGE

Mary Catherine Scullion, a junior at Kent State university, has been chosen one of four finalists for university queen to be named at the school yearbook dance next quarter. Miss Scullion, one of 26 contestants, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Scullion of 445 E. Seventh st.

95,000 DEER SLAIN

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15—(AP) — Pennsylvania hunters bagged some 95,000 deer during the 1949 big game season, the state game commission reported.

Weather Details

(International News Service)

Ohioans face another 24 hours of subfreezing temperatures today, following a night that saw the mercury plunge to as low as seven degrees.

The low point of seven degrees, reported at Mansfield, may have been followed by lower readings, Forecaster A. S. Klemetsmo said. Dayton, Toledo, Youngstown and Zanesville also saw the mercury fall to 10 degrees or lower.

"Highest readings today will be in the 20's," he predicted. "The low tonight will be somewhere between 10 and 15 degrees.

"There will be some light snow flurries along the lake, enough to give drivers a rough time."

The mercury won't start climbing above the freezing mark until Friday, the weatherman added.

The department of highways reported highways normal with light snow falling east and north of a line marked by Cleveland, Akron, Canton and Youngstown.

Art Same World Over, Declares Leetonian Home From Abroad

LEETONIA, Dec. 15—"Art is art, and paint is paint, whether in Paris or the United States, declares Joseph Jeswald, 22, of 93 Pine st.

Jeswald returned to Leetonia this week with his wife and infant son after two years of serious art studies in Paris.

He will continue his studies at Columbia University where he will seek a teaching degree in the history of art.

Jeswald realistically states, "Much art is hard to sell and as I want to paint as I fee it, I will support my family through teaching in this country and paint as I want to paint."

He said they plan to return to France in a couple of years to further studies under the masters. While in Paris he spent two semesters in the Academy Julian and one semester with the famous Leger, who was the subject of a Life magazine story last week.

Jesewald feels young artists should not try to become self-important by extensive showings of their works so he participated in only two public Paris showings—one a G. I. show and the other an academy show.

This is the Leetonian's first visit home since he went overseas with the Air Corps in 1945. He was discharged in Europe and upon the urging of some of his friends who saw his work, he enrolled in the art schools and worked with a Marshall Plan unit in the Security department. Shortly before returning he completed a large mural in one of Paris' favorite restaurants.

His talented wife, former WAC Margaret Cassidy, is the daughter of a New York newswoman. She studied languages and literature at the Sorbonne University of Paris. She, too, will continue studies at Columbia.

Peter, age 9 months, is being taught both "Mother and Father" and "Ma Mere et Mon Pere" as the Jeswalds want him to be ready for future Paris life.

Jeswald's conversations with Leetonia friends have covered a wide range this week. He tells of the colorful life on the Butte Monmarte, unique Paris artists' colony, where there are duels almost every Sunday.

He also has discussed the trends in cubism, modern art and the non-objective paintings of the world of art.

Gifts From Your Kitchen

Walnutaroons

1 egg white
1 cup firmly packed light-brown sugar
¼ teasp. salt
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Stir in sugar until well blended. Add salt and nuts, and mix well. Drop by tablespoonfuls on plain or parchment paper on baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven of 350° F. for 15 to 20 min., or until light brown. Let cool about 2 min. Remove cookies from paper with spatula, and place on a cake rack to cool thoroughly. Makes about 18 Walnutaroons. Other kinds of nuts may be substitued for the walnuts.

Butterseotch Wafers

½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teasp. baking powder
¼ teasp. salt
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 teasp. vanilla

Melt shortening in large saucepan. Stir in sugar; then cook low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved and mixture well blended. Then cool. Stir in egg. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt, and add with walnuts and vanilla. Blend thoroughly. Place mixture on waxed paper; shape into roll 1½ in. in diameter. Roll up in waxed paper. Chill several hours, or overnight, in refrigerator until very firm. Then, with sharp knife, slice thinly—about ⅛ in. thick. Place on greased baking sheet. Brush with top milk. Bake in moderately hot oven of 400° F. for 10 to 12 min., or until done. This recipe makes 5 to 6 doz.

Soft Molasses Cookies

2 teasp. baking soda
2 tables. hot water
½ cup shortening
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup molasses
1 egg
2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teasp. ginger
1 teasp. cinnamon
¼ teasp. salt
6 tables. cold water
½ cup seedless raisins

Dissolve soda in hot water. Stir well; set aside to cool. Meanwhile, work shortening with spoon until light and fluffy; gradually add sugar and molasses, continuing to work with spoon. Then stir in unbeaten egg; beat mixture well. Sift next 4 ingredients; add alternately with water to shortening mixture. Stir in soda.. Add all but a few of the raisins. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls, 2 in. apart, on greased cookie sheet. Sprinkle remaining raisins over unbaked cookies. Bake in moderately hot oven, 400° F., 12 min., or until brown, Makes 2 doz.

Christmas Crescents

¾ cup shortening
5 tables. confectioners' sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 teasp. ice water
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teasp. vanilla flavoring
½ cup powdered sugar

Work shortening with spoon against sides of bowl until fluffy and creamy. Add confectioners' sugar gradually, while continuing to work with spoon until light. Add flour, ice water, walnuts, and vanilla, and mix well. Cover, and chill about 2 hrs. in refrigerator. Then remove, and with fingers shape into crescents about 1½ in. x 1½ in. Bake on greased cookie sheets in slow oven of 300° F. for 30 min., or until very light brown. Remove from cookie sheets. Then, while they are still warm, sprinkle with powdered sugar. Makes about 40 cookies.

In using electric beater: Let shortening stand at room temperature until soft; then cream 1 min. at high speed. Gradually add confectioners' sugar, with beater still at high speed. Scrape bowl, and beat 1 min. Then turn beater to lowest speed; add remaining ingredients, and beat until well mixed.

Betty's Spice Cake

2 cups hot water
1 cup shortening
2 cups granulated sugar
1½ cups seedless raisins
2 teasp. cinnamon
1 teasp. cloves
1 teasp. nutmeg
¼ teasp. ginger
1 teasp. salt
1 cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour
2 teasp. double-acting baking powder
1 teasp. baking soda
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 cups sifted enriched all-purpose flour
1½ cups chopped pecans

Grease well and flour 2 loaf pans (9 in. x 5 in. x 3 in.). In large saucepan, combine first 9 ingredients. Heat, while stirring, to a hard boil. Cool to room temperature. Heat oven to 350° F. (moderate). Meanwhile, sift together 1 cup flour, baking powder, and soda. Add, with eggs, to cooled mixture; beat for 2 min., or until smooth. Add 3 cups flour, cup by cup, stirring till smooth after each addition. Stir in nuts. Bake in greased pans at 350° F. 1 hr. 15 min., or until done. Cool 10 min.; remove cakes; cool on racks.

Institute Comment: We found we could wrap each cake in moisture-vaporproof material; then seal and freeze. Keeps 3 or more months. Or store in cool, dry place, or refrigerate.

Wrap Gaily! Wrap in waxed paper, then in black crepe paper. Tie with tinsel rope. For final flourish, add red or green Christmas-tree ball.

Date Fills

1 lb. pitted dates, cut up
½ cup granulated sugar
¾ cup white corn syrup
¼ cup orange juice
2 teasp. grated orange rind
¼ teasp. salt
2½ cups sifted enriched all-purpose flour
1 teasp. baking soda
1 teasp. salt
1 cup shortening (at room temperature)
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup water
2½ cups uncooked rolled oats

Combine dates with next 5 ingredients. Bring to boil; cook slowly, stirring frequently, till thick (about 10 min.). Cool. Meanwhile, in bowl, sift together flour, soda, and 1 teasp. salt. Add shortening. Blend well with fork. Add brown sugar and water. Work till smooth (about 2 min.). Stir in oats. Knead if necessary to blend. Spread half of dough over greased 15 in. x 11 in. baking pan. Roll remaining dough between 2 sheets of waxed paper; try to make a 15 in. x 11 in. rectangle. Chill till firm (about 10 min.). Heat oven to 350° F. (moderate). Spread date mixture over oatmeal layer in pan. Cover with chilled layer of oatmeal mixture. Bake at 350° F. 30 min. Cool in pan; cut in squares. Makes 70 to 80. Keeps for days.

Wrap Gaily! Wrap each square in aluminum foil; pack in Noel boxes. Wrap with foil; tie with green ribbon.

YULE COOKIES—Easy-to-make Christmas gift.

Gifts From The Kitchen

NOTHING'S sweeter to tuck into Christmas packages than a little jar of homemade jelly or a box of cookies. Make a batch early, wrap the containers attractively. You'll be mighty glad to have these holiday packages ready well in advance.

ORANGE SPEARMENT JELLY

Ingredients: 2½ cups orange juice, 6 cups sugar, green coloring, ½ bottle fruit pectin, ½ to 1½ teaspoons spearmint extract.

Method: To prepare the orange juice, grate rind and squeeze the juice from 6 medium-sized oranges. Add the juice to the rind and let stand about 10 minutes. Press juice through small cloth. Measure 2½ cups into a very large saucepan. To make the jelly, add the sugar to the juice in the saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and, while mixture is coming to a boil, add green coloring to give desired shade. As soon as mixture boils, stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim. Add flavoring and pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 8 six-ounce glasses.

For some of your other gifts how about cookbooks? I find there's always one that's "just right" for a particular friend. Cookbook formats are so attractive these days they're most appropriate for Christmas. If there are men on your list who like to cook you might consider one of the following books—all by men!

Gay as can be in its magenta, black and silver binding "Rector's Naughty '90s Cook Book" by Alexander Kirkland (Doubleday and Company, New York) might be just the right choice for a friend who's particularly interested in the Victorian era. Here are recipes culled from Mr. Rector's files as well as amusing Victorian memorabilia.

"The Unprejudiced Palate" by Angelo Pellegrini (Macmillan, New York) is a recent book about cookery from which a lot of men will get a great lift. Written by an English literature teacher at the University of Washington it's interesting, has an original point of view, and some fine recipes.

"Food Is a Four Letter Word" by Eliot Elisofon (Rinehart, New York) is a new cook book by a well know photographer who writes beguilingly about food. As Gypsy Rose Lee says in the forward Mr. Elisofon is a strictly "meat-and-potato guy" who got switched over to the gourmet side. What I particularly like about this book is that the author makes good cooking seem so easy. It's partly the casual way he writes, but maybe more his excellent taste in choosing dishes that do not take too much preparation but are fine in flavor. Then, for a cookbook collector, there's the recently published "Delights for Ladies" by Sir Hugh Plat, reprinted from the original 1609 text with an introduction by G. E. and K. R. Fussell (Transatlantic Arts, New York). This is one of the earliest cookery and household recipe books.

The Rural Electrification Administration has found chemicals the best means of controlling brush along power line rights of way.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non acid) powder on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

For Small Cooks To Make

Fruited Tidbits

1 -oz. pkg. dried figs
½ cup seedless raisins
1 teasp. grated lemon rind
2 tabesp. lemon juice
1/3 cup confectioners' sugar
1 cup peanut butter
1 cup shredded coconut

Put figs through medium blade of food chopper. Add raisins and next 4 ingredients. Knead well. Mold into balls in palms of hands. Roll balls in coconut. Make amount desired; wrap rest in waxed paper; refrigerate till needed. Or pat mixture ½ in. thick; cut with fancy cutter.

To Pretty Them Up: Pack in candy boxes with waxed paper between layers. Wrap with aluminum foil; tiny bells tied to box in ribbon bow add to merriment.

Bristly Drops

Heat oven to 400° F. Cream well 1/3 cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, and 1 egg. Stir in 1½ teasp vanilla. Sift 1 cup sifted enriched all-purpose flour with ½ teasp. double-acting baking powder, ¼ teasp. baking soda, ½ teasp. salt; add with 1½ cup cut-up dates, ½ cup chopped walnuts. Roll teasp. of dough in 2 cups crushed wheat flakes. Bake at 400° F. 10 min., or until done. Makes 4 doz.

Surprise Nuts

Unbroken walnut shells
Jelly beans
Tiny gum drops
Chocolate-coated raisins
Nickles, pennies

Use unbroken walnut shells Mother saved when cracking nuts. Wash, dry. Scrape out any rough inner shell. Fill with jelly beans, tiny gum drops, chocolate-coated raisins, etc. Put pennies or a nickel in some if you wish. Glue, fitting halves together; hold in place with rubber bands wrapped several times around shells. Remove bands when glue is dry.

To Pretty Them Up: Wrap some nuts with aluminum foil, leaving rest plain. Pack in small candy box; wrap with gay paper. For "different" name tag, trace holly leaf on aluminum foil. Cut out, and write name on it with skwer. Pierce stem end for twine tie-on.

Apple Santa

Polish red apple. Cut red crepe paper in strip 10 in. x 2 in. strip (long enough to go around the Santa apple as a neck ruff). Cut circle of cardboard about 2 in. in diameter. Puncture center of cardboard with skewer, and stick part way through cardboard into apple. Arrange red ruff between apple and cardboard, holding it in place with rubber band. Make Santa's cap with another piece of red crepe paper, cut about 5 in. wide and long enough to go around apple. Wrap around Santa's head. Fasten ends to head with gummed tape. Gather tip of cap together; secure with gummed tape. Shape tufts of cotton for eyebrows, mustache, and beard. Glue in place. Add 2 cloves just below eyebrows for eyes. Glue cotton ball to end of cap.

To Pretty It Up: Pack in cardboard box lined with cotton. Wrap box with red crepe paper left from Apple Santa.

Cooking Hints

To keep apples or pears or bananas from discoloring, when you are using them in a salad, sprinkle them with a little lemon or pineapple juice.

Make a casserole dish of macaroni and sliced frankfurters and canned tomato sauce; add cole slaw, bread and butter, and a ready-prepared dessert or fruit for a quick holiday supper menu.

Orange and grapefruit peel make economical sweets. Cut the peel into narrow strips, boil the strips until tender, then glaze them in sugar syrup.

For a luncheon salad serve canned peaches with cottage cheese on salad greens. Accompany with French dressing to which orange juice and orange rind have been added.

Make sure that your toddler is comfortable when he is eating. Are his chair and table the right height for him? Does he have eating utensils that are the right size for him to manage? A small squat glass for milk or orange juice is better for a pre-schooler than a heavy tall glass.

FLAKORN
CORN MUFFIN MIX
PLEASANT CHANGE FROM BREAD
Serve corn muffins, hot or cold, made with Flakorn. Delicious flavor. Crisp, tender texture. And always the same sure results because Flakorn ingredients are precision-mixed.

TRADITIONAL BOWL—The old-fashioned holiday party.

The Cookbook

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Hearty Eggnog Is Traditional

THERE must be a Christmas tree and at least one eggnog party in every traditional Yuletide season. The tree is a feast for the eyes. The eggnog is a combination of eggs and dairy foods spiced with friendship.

You need a great-hearted punch bowl of silver, china or glass, a large ladle and small punch cups in profusion. Arrange all these symbols of holiday welcome on a conveniently placed table. As each guest arrives, he is greeted with a cup of eggnog.

Remember that eggnog, with its base of milk and cream, is a real food even though served in party spirit. Because of this, only light side refreshments need to be served with it, such as highly flavored butter sandwiches and fruit cake.

Traditional Eggnog
(Makes about 25 punch cups)

Six eggs, 2/3 cup sugar, 1½ quarts milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ quarts light cream, 2 tablespoons vanilla, 1 cup heavy cream, grated nutmeg.

Beat eggs and sugar together until all grains of sugar have dissolved. Add milk and salt and chill in refrigerator overnight or for at least four or more hours. When ready to serve, add light cream which has been thoroughly chilled and vanilla. Pour into punch bowl. Beat cold heavy cream until frothy and pour over eggnog; sprinkle with grated nutmeg.

Ice Cream Nog
(Makes about 25 punch cups)

One quart vanilla or eggnog ice cream (bulk), 6 eggs, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2½ quarts milk, 2 to 3 tablespoons vanilla, grated nutmeg.

If ice cream is purchased far in advance, place in freezing compartment of refrigerator. Remove about 15 minutes before ready to use. To Prepare ice cream nog: Add salt to eggs in mixing bowl; beat until light and frothy. Stir in milk and vanilla. Chill. When ready to serve, pour milk-egg mixture into punch bowl. Add ice cream in large spoonfuls and sprinkle grated nutmeg over top.

Winona News Notes

WINONA, Dec. 15—Mrs. Lowell Ewing was hostess to 29 members and friends of the Lydia Circle Thursday evening. Mrs. Earl Ruble presided at the business meeting.

Business was closed on boxes sent by the circle to missionaries in Canada and India, six bags of clothing sent to Germany and two bags to an orphanage in the Kentucky mountains.

The group honored Mrs. Walter Linder with a stork shower. Lunch, served by Mrs. Ewing, assisted by Mrs. Ronald Howells and Mrs. Clyde Hendershott, featured appointments in keeping with the shower.

The ministers and their wives of the Friends Damascus Quarterly meeting met at the local Friends Church Tuesday for a service of prayer and fasting.

Members of the Junior Youth Fellowship of the Methodist Church met Thursday evening, Dec. 8, with associate member, Brenda Hawkins, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hawkins, on the Depot rd. for an enjoyable Christmas party.

The singing of Christmas carols playing games and contests occupied the evening hours. A Christmas exchange was held and the group presented its leader, Miss Josephine Dunn with a gift.

Lunch with seasonal appointments was served by Mrs. Hawkins. Members brought gifts to be given for County Welfare Christmas party.

Mrs. Charles Berger entertained at dinner Tuesday, Dec. 6, honoring her uncle Jacob Ashman's 88th birthday.

The guests included Mr. Ashman's niece, Mrs. Agnes Yoder, and Mrs. Minnie Bartages of Beloit and Mrs. Donald Cameron and daughter, Gayla, of Damascus. Mr. Ashman makes his home with Mr. and Mrs. Berger.

The Methodist Sunday School primary department will present a Christmas program, directed by Mrs. William Dunn, at the church at 8 p. m. Sunday.

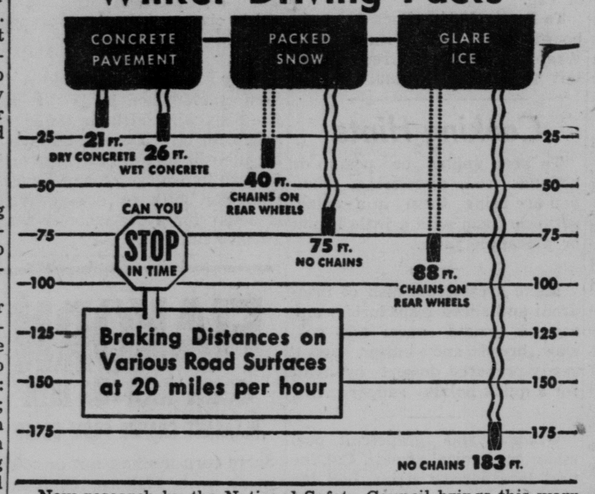
The program will be followed by a Christmas treat for the children. The public is invited to attend.

All the classes of Sunday School will participate when the Christmas program is presented at the local Friends Church Sunday, Dec. 25. Scheduled to begin at 7 p. m., the program is open to the public.

On the evening of Dec. 19 the ministers and families of the Damascus Quarter will hold a family night at the local Friends Church parlors. The children will present a Christmas program. Rev. Sherman Brantingham is pastor of the local church.

Mrs. Nova Andre and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stamp and Lee Jimmy and Jay were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton at Leetonia.

They also attended a Piano Recital at Methodist Church in Leetonia Sunday afternoon. Ronald Edgerton and Nova Jean Edgerton both participated in the program.



New research by the National Safety Council brings this warning—skidding and reduced visibility substantially increase the traffic death rate during winter months of snow and ice. Equalized brakes, tire chains, good windshield wipers, defrosters, good lights, reduced speed—all can prevent your sliding to the junk pile or hospital.

East Goshen Notes

The Semper Fidelis Sunday School class will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barnes Friday evening.

Mrs. Ora Wallace will entertain associate members of the Progressive Sunday School class Friday evening.

A program and a gift exchange were features when the Elsie Matti Missionary Society met with Mrs. Carl Shewell Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Sherrett and family were dinner guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Sherrett, of Dover last Sunday. The event honored the 11th birthday of Howard Sherrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Sherrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Petre and daughter, Bonnie, of Alliance, were recent guests of Mrs. Mary Malmsberry and Mrs. Mary Myers.

Rev. Hurley Cross left Monday for his home n Pomona, N. C., after holding a two-week's series of revival services in the church here.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Datz of Deerfield spent last Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Merle Sherrett.

Mrs. Clyde Woolman, Sr., was a guest at a tea at the home of Mrs. C. H. Weidenmier of Berlin Center Monday when she entertained associate members of the Book club.

Mrs. Leota Cattell spent several days last week with Mrs. Mary Malmsberry and attended the evangelistic services in the East Goshen Friends Church.

The Charles Matti Men's Missionary group met with Charles Malmsberry Wednesday evening.

Lorin Pim of Akron, formerly of here, returned Monday with a deer from a hunting trip in Pennsylvania.

It's Time For Goodies

ALL of these cookies will keep fresh for days is stored properly—and that means in a tightly closed tin box. Be sure to store soft cookies in one tightly closed container, crisp cookies separately in another. And are they ever delicious! Each variety has its unique flavor.

Coconut Squares

Ingredients: For Crust: 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ cup sugar, 1/3 cup butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons old-fashioned dark molasses. For Topping: 2 eggs (beaten), ¾ cup sugar, 3 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1/3 cup old-fashioned molasses, 1 cup chopped nut meats, 1 cup shredded coconut.

Method: For Crust—Sift flour and sugar together. Cut butter or margarine to make crumb consistency. Add molasses; mix well, and pat into an ungreased 8 x 12-in. pan. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in a moderate (350° F.) oven. The top of the crust will be slightly soft, but do not increase baking time. For Topping—Mix the eggs, sugar flour, salt, baking powder, molasses, nut meats, and coconut. Bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 25 minutes. The top will be slightly soft, but do not increase baking time. Leave in pan to cool. Cut into 36 squares.

Molasses Crisps

Ingredients: 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ¼ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons ginger, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ¾ cup shortening, 1½ cups old-fashioned molasses (heated).

Method: Sift together the flour, sugar, baking soda, salt, ginger, and cinnamon. Cut shortening into mixture to resemble crumbs. Stir in warm molasses. For drop cookies drop ½ teaspoon batter at a time onto greased cookie sheets; flatten tops to ⅛-inch thickness with a glass covered with a damp cloth. Bake in a moderately hot (400° F.) oven for 7 to 8 minutes. For rolled cookies chill dough until stiff enough to roll (about 4 hours or overnight). Roll on lightly floured board and shape with cooky cutters. Decorate as desired with colored sugar, nuts, or dried or candied fruit. Bake as for drop cookies above. Makes 7 dozen cookies.

COOKIE PARADE—Have them on hand for the holidays.

CHRISTMAS COOKIE CANES

Ingredients: ¾ cup softened butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons almond flavoring ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar, ½ cup old fashioned molasses, ½ cup finely chopped nut meats, 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour.

Method: Cream together butter or margarine, salt, almond flavoring, and sugar. Add the molasses and nut meats. Stir flour into mixture, about 3 tablespoons at a time. Chill dough until it is stiff enough to handle. Shape small pieces of dough to resemble candy canes, keeping hands and board dusted with confectioners' sugar instead of flour. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheets in a slow (325 F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on pan 1 minute before removing to wire cake cooler. When cold, decorate as follows: Sift confectioners' sugar and measure 1 cup for use: stir in 5 teaspoons water. Spread over cookies with a paring knife; place on wire cake cooler for icing to harden. Then stripe with red and green icing made as follows: For each color stripe desired, stir 2 teaspoons water and 1 drop vegetable coloring into ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar. Drip icing across cookie canes from end of teaspoon or paring knife to form stripes. If desired, use pastry tube for striping canes.

Coconut Drop Cookies

Ingredients: 1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup unsulphured molasses, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg, 1 cup coconut (cut fine).

Method: Sift together flour and salt. Cream together shortening, sugar, molasses, and vanilla. Beat in egg well. Add cocoanut and sifted dry ingredients. Drop from teaspoon onto lightly greased cooky sheets. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies. Note: This recipe does not call for either baking soda or baking powder—they were not forgotten. The cookies are crisp (slightly on the hard side) and have a delicate, delicious flavor.

CANDIES

Molasses Chews

Ingredients: 1¼ cups sugar, ½ cup unsulphured molasses, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup butter or margarine, ½ cup light cream or evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 ounces blanched, salted almonds.

Method: Mix sugar, molasses, salt, butter or margarine, and light cream or evaporated milk together. Slowly cook mixture to 250° F. (in winter) or 255° F. (in summer), or until a small amount of syrup forms a firm ball in cold water. Stir mixture constantly while cooking. Remove from heat. Pour syrup onto buttered platter or cooky pan. Cool until candy can be handled. Then cut into one inch squares. Place an almond in center of each piece. Roll between palms of hand keeping almond in center. Wrap each piece of candy in waxed paper. Makes 1¼ pounds.

Festive Divinity

2 cups granulated sugar
½ cup white corn syrup
½ cup water
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
½ cup chopped candied cherries
½ cup chopped nut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix sugar, syrup and water in deep saucepan. Attach candy thermometer to side of pan and bring to boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cook without stirring until thermometer shows 260° F. Pour in a thin stream over stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Cool slightly. Continue beating until the mixture holds its shape when a small amount is dropped from a spoon. Stir in candied cherries, nuts and vanilla and pour into buttered pan. Cut into squares. Makes about 1¼ pounds.

Cooking Hints

Cook both white and sweet potatoes in their skins to retain the greatest amount of vitamins and minerals. Use a small amount of water. Watch sweet potatoes to see that they do not overcook—they get tender quickly.

STANDING beside the Bruin that fell to his rifle in a hunt at Speculator, N. Y., is John Hensen of Albany, New York. The black bear weighs about 610 pounds. Hensen brought it down with a 30 caliber rifle at 42 feet. It took nine men three hours to haul the giant carcus back to the camp.

KANSAS SENATOR. Harry Darby, above, 54-year-old Kansas City, Kan., industrialist and Republican national committeeman, has been named U. S. senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Clyde M. Reed. Darby, who heads a Kansas City steel firm, says he will serve only until the 1950 general election and then retire.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now Hospitals Are "Banks," Too!

Doc Simpson was saying, "Hospitals are building up 'bone banks' that work just like blood banks. When bone is needed, the surgeon takes one from a refrigerator, cuts it to the right shape and simply splices it in."

"You doctors are sure making progress," I says, "but tell me, are any of the patients fussy about whose bone they're getting?"

"No sir!" replies Doc. "No more than they worry about whose blood they get. No one yet asked for a bone from a man who went to the same school or church he did."

From where I sit, it would be a better world if we were half as willing to accept other people's ideas and tastes, as we seem to be willing to accept their bone and blood. There'll always be differences. Some like buttermilk, others would rather have a sparkling glass of temperate beer. But underneath we're pretty much the same—deserving each other's respect and tolerance!

For A Merry Christmas, Beware!

What we all hope and expect to be a merry Christmas could well become a time of fiery tragedy for any of us if we forget that Christmas trees are highly inflammable, and place them near an open fire instead of in the coolest part of the room.

When unwrapping presents, it is a good plan to gather up all the inflammable wrapping material and remove it from the room where you have your Christmas tree. Over-heated wires or a lighted cigaret butt dropped amongst such fire-fodder could quickly turn a home into a holocaust. Many deaths result each year from fires caused in this careless manner.

Don't plug in too many electric wires, lights or appliances on one extension. Over-plugging will cause a dangerous overload on electrical circuits. It is better to use fewer appliances on one circuit and distribute the load to several outlets.

Homeworth Notes

Mrs. Isabel Davidson was presented a card table and Miss Wilda Conrad received a chenille robe in honor of their birthday anniversaries at a meeting of the Creative Arts Club.

Christmas sewing filled the early hours and Mrs. Atlee Freshley, hostess served refreshments.

Martha Cullison gave each honoree a gift. Mrs. Cullison will be hostess at the Christmas dinner party and gift exchange Dec. 22.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Archibald were in Princeton, N. J., last week attending an institute held by the National Health Council. Mrs. Archibald was invited to present the Columbiana County Rural Health program.

Dr. Kenneth Colton of Des Moines now on furlough from Japan was a recent guest of Mrs. Isabel Saffell and son John Saffell. Dr. Colton and Prof. Saffell were associate workers at general headquarters in Tokyo for two years.

Mrs. Beulah Wright of Kensington has returned from the Alliance hospital where she underwent a mastoid operation and is convalescing at the homes of E. E. Grimes and Mrs. Rena Thomas.

Sunday guests at the Thomas home were Raymond Montgomery, Charles Wright, Misses Dorothy and Jeanne Wright and Mrs. Beulah Wright.

Deer Whacks Whacker In Year's Wacky Wrecks

A deer that went hitch-hiking, a ball player who exploded, an automobile that flew, a box of cookies that set fire to a house, a tanker that came knocking on the front door—these are some of the characters in the National Safety Council's annual collection of freakish mishaps.

Take the deer that decided to hitch-hike. Motorcyclist Clark Pounell of Unionville, Conn., saw the animal in the middle of the road. Before he knew wha' hoppen, Pounell found the animal sitting jauntily on the handlebars. The joyride didn't last long—Pounell, motorcycle and deer landed in the ditch.

To add insult to mishap, the deer stared at Pounell a few seconds, then quietly went over and kicked him in the pants.

Automobiles were up to peculiar doings during 1949. There was one that took off. In Brighton, N. Y., Raymond Boyle's car ran head on into a snowplow. The auto used the blade of the plow as a ramp and headed for the wild blue yonder. It attained an altitude of 12 feet, grazed a telephone pole, and made a four-point landing 81 feet from the point of take-off.

ANOTHER CAR had larcenous intentions. It picked a man's pocket. Not only took what was in the pocket, in fact, but made off with the pocket itself. Happened to W. T. Taylor in Sacramento, Calif. He walked too close to a moving car, and the auto ripped off his coat pocket, wallet and all.

Outfielder Norman Lawrence, a 12-year-old hot-shot from East Oakland, Calif., learned two things during the year. Item One: Never play baseball with firecrackers in your pocket. Item Two: Don't run too fast.

Young Lawrence, patrolling, left field, gave chase to a long fly ball. He ran so vigorously that the friction of his pants ignited some matches in his pocket which, in turn, touched off a small hoard of firecrackers Norman had in his other pocket. The young outfielder blazed a fiery trail across the ball field but caught the fly.

Baked goods are usually quite well-behaved, but folks in both Bridgeport, Conn., and Cedar Rapids, Iowa, can testify to some very ornery specimens. Mrs. Lowell Long of Cedar Rapids popped a panful of biscuits into the oven and was quite surprised when they shot at her. It turned out that there were also two overlooked revolvers in the oven. She had the biscuits Colt.

-:-

IT WAS IN Bridgeport that a box of cookies set a house on fire. The box fell off a kitchen shelf and struck the water faucet. It turned on the water and the cookies spilled out and clogged the drain. The sink overflowed, the water seeped through the floor and caused a short circuit. Fire broke out.

There were, the National Safety Council reports, hundreds of queer accidents during the year. Some of them were downright ridiculous.

In Kampsville, Ill., bridegroom James Inman carried his bride across the threshold. He slipped and broke his ankle.

In Birmingham, Ala., two stage managers and a stage hand worked over a rifle that failed to discharge during a performance of "Annie Get Your Gun." It exploded back stage, all right, sending the three to the hospital.

In Chicago, Warren Oakes got the winning card in a gin rummy game. He slammed it down triumphantly, and broke his wrist.

IN PASADENA, CALIF., three-year-old Sharlyn Burns was playing nurse and tried to take her own temperature with a weather thermometer. She bit off the bulb and swallowed some of the fluid. Her condition: Fair and warmer.

In Cincinnati, Bob Akers was playing softball. A grounder bounced up and broke his nose. He retired to the bench. The next inning, a piece of a broken bat hit Bob on the same nose. It knocked it back in shape. He went home while he was ahead.

In Anaheim, Calif., Quincy Fergusson was driving with a young woman who was blowing bubble gum. The bubble burst in Fergusson's face. He let go of the wheel to claw at the goo. His car swerved into two others.

In Monongahela, Pa., railroad brakeman Harry Crawford stepped off the train when it stopped one dark night. What Crawford didn't know was that the train had stopped on a bridge. Yep—he fell 85 feet, but suffered only minor injuries. That first step, he reported, was a big one.

But the prince of all the odd happenings was that which befell Harry Pierson in Island Park, N. Y. He heard a knock on his door. When he opened up, he found a sea-going tanker, complete with cargo and crew, was at the door. It had been blown off course by high winds.

Somebody, Pierson must have thought, was tanked up.

The first submarine for the U. S. Navy was built by John Philip Holland nearly 50 years ago. It was propelled by a four-cylinder gasoline engine.

38 Percent Of Farm Hands Idle In November

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 — (INS)—Nearly 38 per cent of the nation's hired farm hands were laid off last month as harvesting neared completion and cold weather set in.

At the same time, nearly 21 per cent of the country's farm operators and unpaid working members of their families also found themselves thrown out of farm work.

These figures are reported by the agriculture department in a survey of agricultural employment.

The department said that rain and snow stopped much of the outside farm work in the northern Pacific area, upper Mississippi Valley, lake region, Ohio Valley and the northeast.

Elsewhere, generally fair and sunny weather permitted the completion of harvests and helped farmers make good progress with their late fall work.

Total agricultural employment in November — including farm operators, family workers and hired hands—was down nearly 25 per cent from October.

Compared with a year ago, November farm employment was down about one half of one per cent. There was a rise of about one percent in hired workers, but this was more than offset by a decline in operator-family jobs.

Crop Predictions

Grapefruit will be scarce and probably higher in price next year.

On the other hand, it's expected that there'll be more oranges and lemons, probably at lower prices, and about the same number of tangerines as this year.

The Agriculture Department also predicted that output of vegetables during the 1950 winter season will be "substantially larger" than in 1949.

The department forecast an increase of 20 percent in production of 13 of the 18 winter crops. Shallots, kale, lima beans and celery were the only crops whose production is expected to decline.

CROP In High Gear

The campaign for the Christian Overseas Program in Columbiana County being conducted this week is progressing nicely according to information from the county CROP committee. Contributions are being received from churches which took cash collections last Sunday.

Workers are contacting neighbors in rural areas throughout the county for contributions of cash, wheat, corn, or milk. The recommendations will be converted into cash to buy a carload of wheat and a carload of dry milk for shipment abroad.

Persons who are not contacted can contribute by contacting their respective township chairmen, their church officials, or by writing to the CROP committee at Lisbon.

Testing Progress

Reports from local veterinarians indicate that rapid progress is being made in completing the area test for brucellosis among cattle owners in Columbiana County.

Herd owners who have not tested since Feb. 1, 1948, are required to test under an order issued by the state veterinarian, Dr. Harry G. Geyer, at Columbus. The order was issued in November in accordance with the law after 90 per cent of the cattle in the county had been tested.

Dr. R. C. Brager of the Ohio Bureau of Animal Industry is in charge of the work in the county.

Dairymen To Meet

The annual meeting of the Columbiana-Mahoning Dairy Herd Improvement Association will be held in the Memorial building at Salem Wednesday, Jan. 4, at 1:30 p. m., according to an announcement by county agent, Floyd Lower, of Lisbon today.

Dairymen who wish to participate in the Associate work next year are being urged to contact their respective county agent in Columbiana or Mahoning counties immediately.

C. D. McGrew, Dairy Specialist at Ohio State University, will be the speaker at the meeting.

Extension Meetings Set

"Human Relations" is the subject of the Home Extension Major Project for this winter and sixteen townships have already had the first meeting of the three planned. The subject of this first meeting was "Living Together As a Family."

The leaders training meeting for the second in the series of the Human Relations project will be held Jan. 5 in the basement of the Lisbon Christian Church on the subject, "Living Together in the Community."

Miss Lucille Pepoon, specialist in child development at Ohio State University will be in charge All townships represented at the first meeting are planning to send leaders to this one also.

In addition, Yellow Creek Township will be represented by Mrs. Lloyd Close and Mrs. J. H. Frischkorn. The leaders will have a forenoon and an afternoon session with lunch being served by the women of the Christian Church. Township Home Council members as well as project leaders are invited.

For the third phase of the subject "Living Together as Nations", the Home Extension Council has secured Mr. J. P. Schmidt, head of the farmers' institutes in Ohio and professor of rural sociology, to speak at four district meetings on Feb. 22 and 23.

Hanoverton Presbyterian Church, Memorial Building, Salem, Fairfield Centralized School and West Point Grange Hall are the places tentatively selected by the Home Council for these meetings and everyone is invited.

Local Man's Fowl Wins Show Award

At the New York Poultry Show held last week, competition was keen with entries of 5,000 birds of many varieties.

Robert Paxson of Salem won best in class for his entry, Silver Duck Wing Old English Game Bantam Cockerel.

The attendance far surpassed last year's exhibit and plans for next year's poultry show are all ready underway.

A product of cross-breeding, this hybrid hen, being held by Gloria Debono in Pueblo, Colo., has been undergoing scientific experimentation for three years at the Colorado State Hospital Poultry Farm. Developed by former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, the chicken with 6,000 others of the same type, has produced an average 239 eggs a year against 201 by White Leghorns, is hardier and more resistant.

Christmas Hints Given To Farmers

Need some ideas for your Christmas list?

Capper's Farmer, farm magazine, points out an electrically propelled mailbox for rural areas has been developed. After the mail carrier has paid his visit, you simply press a button and the box moves toward the house on a pair of cables.

A motor inside the box picks up the current from the cables and powers the wheels. The farm magazine says the mailbox-on-wheels will travel one-half mile or more.

Another gadget for somebody's stocking is a burglar alarm which sounds off with a loud warning if someone tampers with your car. It can be moved from one car to another and is guaranteed to last 10 years.

Mahoning PMA Elects Chairman

A. G. Cobourn has been named chairman of the Mahoning County Production and Marketing Administration, formerly the AAA, it was announced today.

Cobourn and other officers were elected by delegates from the various community committees.

Other officers are R.W. Collins vice chairman, Lauren Moff third member, Robert Turner first alternate, and Thomas Richards second alternate.

Salem Man's Cow Completes Testing

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. Dec. 15—Larwood Mistress Belvo, a registered Holstein Friesian cow owned by Glenn Shreve of Salem, O., has completed at 365-day production test of 667 pounds of butterfat and 17,771 pounds of milk testing 3.8 per cent made in Herd Improvement Registry.

Testing was supervised by Ohio State University, in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The cow was milked twice daily and was four years, nine months of age when she began her test period.

The endurance of the American bison was remarkable. He could often run 40 miles at a time.

Advice On Buying Yule Trees Given

When you go to buy a Christmas tree and you ask for a short needled pine you will not be getting a pine at all but more than likely a spruce or fir. If the twigs are bushy with sharp pointed needles, one-half to three-fourths of an inch long, it is a spruce, and if the needles are blunt and more or less two ranked on the twig, it is a fir.

You may run across a Douglas Fir and that is not a fir at all. Botanists put it in a class by itself and gave it the scientific name of Pseudotsuga, which means false-hemlock.

The common name of Douglas Fir was given after David Douglas, a Scottish traveler, who introduced the tree into England in 1827.

Why didn't they call it false-hemlock? Probably because it looks too much like a fir. The lumber is often marketed as Oregon Pine.

Farmers Find Way To Beat Corn Borer

Two farmers have found a way to outwit the corn borer. Capper's Farmer, farm magazine, reports that Walter F. Brandt and Austin Brandt, LaPorte City, Ia., husk corn early in September before stalks break or ears start to drop.

The soft, sappy grain is hauled from the picker and ground into corn-and-cob meal, then blown into a silo. Water is added to cure it into rich silage that steers relish better than any grain ration the Brandts ever fed.

Last fall the "borer-wise" Brandts, father-son partners, put 4,500 bushels of the corn-and-cob meal into a 50-foot silo, says the magazine.

"Their corn was in safe storage three to four weeks before it was dry enough to keep in the crib," the story said. "The method of preserving is about as fast as cribbing. One man on a two-row picker and two unloading wagons can ensile up to 1,000 bushels a day.

"Brandt beeves eat the ground ear silage until their sides bulge. Steers are greedy for new corn because it is damp and tender and contains more nutrients than old. In crib or granary some of these desirable qualities are lost.

"Not a grain of corn Brandts put into their silo is damaged by mice, rats or insects. There are no fallen ears to force gleaning by hand or with livestock."

AVOID Possible Disappointment
WHEN YOU USE ONLY
ANTIHISTAMINE DRUGS

You Have a Far Better Chance to
ABORT THAT COLD
If You Also Use FOLEY'S

NOT ALL COLDS are stopped by antihistamine drugs. One type cold that can't be stopped by antihistamines is the cold in which a cough and sore throat develop. For such a cold, use Foley's Honey & Tar; the continued use of antihistamines exclusively can lead to needless discomfort, delayed recovery—maybe to serious complications.

Warning! If you NOW have a sore throat or cough or one has developed despite taking antihistamines . . .

START FOLEY'S QUICK! If antihistamines have failed you, they evidently are not what you need. So make up for 24 to 72 hours lost; switch at once to Foley's. Permeate your system with Foley's cold-aborting terpenes and pine tar oil which combat secondary-infection germs causing sore throat, bronchial congestion, coughing. If you haven't been taking antihistamines but have a sore throat or cough, take Foley's to ease your throat, check coughing. Don't delay and let that cough become something worse.

TAKE FOLEY'S whenever you feel a cold coming on

DON'T RISK HALF-TREATING your cold or treating it wrong! Take antihistamines as well as time-tested Foley's. Each does a job the other can't do. Take both and you have a far better chance to abort cold.

FOR BEST RESULTS, get the big economy $1 bottle. Contains plenty; encourages you to take enough to permeate your system with the cold-aborting ingredients in Foley's Honey & Tar. At all druggists.

Ohio Dairies' Production High

Milk, Egg Output Up Over U. S. Average

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—(AP)—Ohio's dairy and poultry farms are maintaining their record of surpassing average production in the nation, the Department of Agriculture reports.

December milk production so far is at a rate of 16.2 pounds a cow, compared with the national average of 14.4, and is more than a pound of milk a day better than the average in the state a year ago. December, 1948, production was 15.5 pounds a day.

The department said Ohio Dairy herds produced 401,000,000 pounds of milk in November, compared with 380,000,000 in November, 1948. The cows in Ohio, it added, are receiving a richer diet than ever before.

On poultry farms, the average production of 1,170 eggs per 100 hens in November outstripped the national average of 1,016. Flocks were bigger, too, another factor in the state's higher egg production.

The state's November egg production was estimated at 192,000,000 compared with 181,000,000 in November last year. Flocks numbered 16,438,000 birds, an increase of more than 300,000 from last year's November total.

Staff members said Ohio poultry and dairy production generally is well ahead of national averages, largely because of better care and feeding of stock.

Mrs. Connie Huseman (left) and Mrs. Agnes Ramsyer serve Damascus Superintendent of Schools C. G. Long, Home economics teacher Miss Daisy Stackhouse and a line of school children their first meal at Goshen High School's new Home Economics building addition. Cafeteria profits on this first meal helped pay for the cafeteria equipment.

Goshen Union's New Cafeteria Is Boon To School Students

GOSHEN UNION High school at neighboring Damascus is proud of its new $115,000 cafeteria.

When the first meal was served recently 260 of the school's 400 students enjoyed the vitamin-packed hot lunch.

The 66-foot by 135-foot brick and glass structure, its equipment largely paid for through the efforts of the students themselves, contains six regular classrooms, a new library, dispensary, rest rooms and a complete new home economic department complete with cafeteria and kitchens.

"GOSHEN UNION school board purchased some equipment," says Miss Daisy Stackhouse, director of the home economics department for the last 14 years. "However, the amount allocated did not take care of the equipment needed to feed the additional students who were brought from two other schools this year.

"The pupils and parents wanted a more complete setup. So—through their generous donations of farm produce and other cooperative efforts—we cleared as much as $1,027 at the initial dinner and now have an electric dishwasher, deep freezers, automatic washer equipment and mixers. Even the gas company shared in the plan with a stove and dryer."

-:-

MISS STACKHOUSE, whose first class in home economics had eight members while her last had 109, teaches all phases of home management including child care, laundry, home nursing, cooking and sewing.

She always had a class for boys until this year and hopes to resume boys' classes soon. Many of her former students hold good restaurant positions today, school officials say.

Students credit her teachings—with emphasis on self-help and responsibility—with much of the success of their plans. Miss Stackhouse says the students' own eagerness gave them strength to endure the pressure necessary to earn the money needed to acquire the school's new equipment.

"We are given honor pins when we complete responsibility hours," said one student as she filled one of the 300 dessert orders that netted the building fund more than $100. "Some of us work for our lunches, too. Even the boys get lunches for a week for so much heavy lifting."

LUNCHES COST 20 cents to the pupil. The department is allotted an extra seven cents by the federal government which also allots dried fruit, eggs and milk. The students are now planning a small-scale community sale each Friday where youngsters may bring produce to be used in the exchange for a meal ticket.

The department staff includes two full time cooks, Mrs. Connie Huseman and Mrs. Agnes Ramsyer, while Mrs. Wilma Bayless, head of the mothers' group, is responsible for calling parents when students and teacher need special assistance.

The opening menu included tomato soup, macaroni and cheese, green peas and a fruit-gelatin dessert with milk. Cooks said less than a pint of plate scraps were left after dishwashing.

Luminous Paint May Be On 1952 Licenses

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(AP)—Luminous paint may be used on Ohio Auto license tags in 1952.

Frank M. Quinn, state registrar of motor vehicles, said yesterday he was investigating how much the new process would cost in added materials and new equipment.

Since luminous paint reflects light at night it would make a stalled car or parked automobile easier to see if its tail lights were out.

Quinn said the luminous tags could not appear before 1952 because the 1950 plates already are made and materials for the 1951 plates ordered.

Lisbon News Notes

LISBON—The Young Women's Bible Class of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a turkey dinner at the Wick Hotel Monday evening, followed by a gift exchange at the home of Mrs. Floyd Baker, E. Chestnut st.

Meat Prices Slump Slightly

Egg Continue Downward Trend

By The Associated Press

Meat prices edged a shade lower in most markets this week and food men said the Christmas shopping rush was largely responsible.

"Ladies dashing around buying Christmas presents apparently don't have as much time or energy—or money, either—to devote to cooking," said an Agriculture department analyst. "The meat business usually slumps a little in the last couple of weeks before the holidays, and prices ease."

Many of the slight reductions this week were in beef items, trimmed to two to four cents a pound to compete with pork cuts which have been lowered in price several times in the past month or so.

Some stores reduced a few pork items two to ten cents a pound but at least one large chain said pork prices had steadied after the long downward trend. It marked up loin chops three cents a pound from last weekend. Lamb was down slightly in most places, veal about unchanged.

Top grade eggs continued their weeks-long price decline and were being quoted two to four cents a dozen cheaper in many marketing centers as farm production held at near-record levels. During the past month eggs have dropped about 12 cents a dozen in some areas.

A few brands of coffee were boosted four cents a pound at the wholesale levels this week after holding steady for almost a month.

"The coffee situation has settled down," said a spokesman for a major roasting concern. "Most roasters are no longer allocating limited supplies to stores, and orders have fallen off because many retailers are clearing their stocks for year-end inventories. Consumers are drinking up the excess coffee they bought during the buying rush, too. Some storekeepers think their coffee sales will drag along below normal until after New Year's."

Club To Entertain Leetonia Children

LEETONIA, Dec. 15—The "So What" Leetonia women's sewing club will entertain approximately 50 children at a Christmas party in the recently completed Order Sons of Italy recreation room Friday evening.

A visit from Santa Claus has been arranged during the evening for the children who will range in ages from 1 to 12 years of age. The O. S. I. will provide refreshments for the party.

President Frank Citino said today the Saturday night dances will continue in the recreation room with the exception of the Christmas Eve dance which has been cancelled so members may attend church services.

Keith Riffle's orchestra has been providing music for the dances. Citino said a Youngstown orchestra has been secured for the New Year's Eve dance and party.

The O. S. I. is making plans to remodel the rear exterior of the building which will include the installation of an exit.

Holly and ivy have been identified with Christmas from very early times.

Salvation Army, Kettles, Songs Fascinate Scribe In New York

BY INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Dec. 15—(INS)—This is the time of year I start hanging around street corners waiting for the Salvation Army lassies, and the laddies, too, to start harmonizing around an old wheezy organ while the coins go jingle, jingle in the Christmas kettle nearby.

I have a fatal weakness for the way in which the Army gets its teeth into an old hymn and sings out with faith and fervor.

Until today, I thought this was my own peculiar frailty. Then I discovered that it affects men and 140,000,000 other Americans in the same yuletide way.

A few years ago, the Salvation Army, conscious it had developed no Carusos or Rise Stevenses, decided to use recordings of good hymns and Christmas carols by professional singers.

And what happened? The customers, that's you and me, who drop coins in the Christmas kettles complained to the high heavens.

-:-

"PEOPLE SAID they wanted to hear the human voice, good or bad, they said they didn't want to hear records," Major James MacMurdo explained at Army headquarters on Fourteenth st.

"And would you believe it, the records didn't bring in nearly as much money as an amateur duo, a trio, or a quartet, just singing the best it can," added Major Lily MacMurdo, Major James' wife.

The MacMurdos for twenty years have been manning the Army's Christmas kettles in the Middle West, in Newark, N. J., and in New York.

The kettles are now manned largely by the Army's cadets, who must have a repertoire of carols and old hymns to satisfy their public, which obviously believes the Army is prepared to sing any request number.

The most popular numbers and the ones most often requested throughout the nation are "Silent Night," "The Old Rugged Cross," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," "Ava Maria" and "Adeste Fidelis."

There are tricks in all trades. Maj. MacMurdo says nothing helps the kettle business like a little show. It may chill the feet, but it warms the American heart and opens the yuletide purse.

"It develops the atmosphere," he added with a smile.

-:-

THE KETTLE contributions in Cleveland were mighty, mighty slim during the depression, the major said. But one day shortly before Christmas, a richly-dressed woman pressed a medium-sized box into his hand and told him that her dear and just departed husband had willed this, his treasure, to the Salvation Army.

The major rushed back to headquarters, clutching the treasure. As Army officers stood around, he opened the box—to reveal a perfect but slightly-used set of false teeth.

Twenty years around the kettles have inured Major James and Major Lily to any contretemps. Shoppers ask them to keep an eye on their parcels and their children. Lost kids cling to them. Major Lily comforts screaming babies left over-long in their carriages by bargain-hunting mothers.

And the Christmas drunks! They all want to sing. Major James says he's never seen one who wasn't a soloist, willing to perform at the drop of a bottle. Last Christmas, a well-dressed quartet of Wall Streeters, a little the worse for an office party, took over a Christmas kettle in the financial district.

THE BROKERS danted to sing sing, and sing they did till "Silent Night" filled the downtown canyons. They attracted lots of attention and lots of money. When the quartet finished, they, too, stuffed bills in the kettle and departed happily into the night.

As a result of al lthese Christmas kettles across the nation, some 450,000 American children will receive gifts who might not otherwise have any Christmas, and 400,000 American families will be provided with Christmas dinners.

I asked Major James MacMurdo if James Caesar Petrillo had so far shown any signs of inching in on the Army's Christmas singers.

"No," said the major with a wide smile. "You might say we're in the same racket but we belong to different unions."

PARTIALLY COVERED by waters of the Potomac River, the Capital Airlines DC-3 is shown some hours after it had crashed off the National Airport in Washington. Four persons were killed and 19 injured. The plane, it was announced, had wandered off a radar path in the dense fog blanketing the field. Government officials stated that a prompt inquiry into the cause of the crash would be made.

Graduates From OSU 35 Years After Start

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—(AP)—A Cleveland building material executive will be graduated from Ohio State University Friday—35 years after he first enrolled as a freshman.

Arnold G. Breckling, president of the Breckling Coal and Supply Co., in Shaker Heights, will receive the degree of bachelor of mechanical engineering during the autumn quarter commencement exercises.

The 56-year-old candidate will receive his diploma as a member of the class of 1918—the year in which he was originally scheduled to graduate. His graduation was postponed by enlistment in the Air Corps in World War I, shortly before he completed the final semester's work.

SEEKS NOMINATION

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15—(AP)—State Senator Howard M. Metzenbaum of Cleveland today became the first candidate to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. Metzenbaum has been a member of the legislature for four terms and claims he never has been beaten for public office since first becoming a candidate in 1942.

Norman Thomas Quits As Candidate, He Says

FALL RIVER, Mass., Dec. 15—(AP)—Norman Thomas is through seeking political office.

The Socialist party candidate in the last six presidential elections told a forum meeting at Temple Beth El last night that he will not run for office again.

Thomas, now 65, also sought the governorship of New York in 1924 and was a candidate for mayor of New York twice.

A native of Marion, Ohio, Thomas for several years was a Presbyterian minister.

What About 1950?

Agriculture To Be Dependent On Government, More And More

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Agriculture will be more dependent in 1950 upon the government for its financial well-being than perhaps in any year since before the war.

The reason for this is to be found in the fact that prices of many farm products have fallen or are expected to fall to levels at which the Agriculture department supports them.

During and since the war, most farm commodities advanced sharply in price under the influence of heavy demands. In other words, prices were determined by economic factors of supply and demand, except, of course, in cases where price ceilings interfered.

Now that the farm price pendulum is swinging back in the other direction, government price support policies will determine in large measure just how low prices will go and farm income will drop.

Farm products which already are down to or below current government support levels include cotton, wheat, corn, cottonseed, grain sorghum, peanuts, flaxseed, potatoes, tobacco, apples, butter, eggs, hogs and possibly rice.

Except in the case of a few products, price support rates for 1950 are yet to be determined. New price support legislation going into effect the first of the year gives Secretary of Agriculture Brannan much wider discretion in setting support levels than does the old law.

Because of this broader authority, the secretary is in a position himself to fairly well determine agriculture's level of prosperity.

The new law requires supports for the so-called basic crops—cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts—to be maintained at or near 1949 levels.

But in the case of many other important products the secretary has authority to reduce supports below mandatory levels of 1949. Included are hogs, chickens, eggs, milk, butterfat, soybeans and turkeys.

Whether Brannan will set supports at relatively high levels or reduce them where he has the discretion is a matter of speculation at the present.

The secretary has made clear in testimony before congressional committees and in speeches that he favors relatively high supports. He argues that they are necessary devices to prevent a collapse in farm buying power which, he says, would bring on a new depression for the nation.

This does not necessarily mean, however, that Brannan will maintain supports at or near maximums permitted by law. Staring him in the face are rising surpluses of many farm products.

Generally speaking, the higher price supports are, the larger is production. Furthermore, the larger the production, the bigger are the supplies which the government must take over under its price support operations.

Already the agriculture department has more than $2,750,000,000 tied up in farm surpluses. During the fiscal year ending last June the current fiscal year may be double that amount.

Brannan himself has warned that taxpayers are likely to balk against prolonged losses of this kind.

But the government is without authority to restrict production of products such as pork, eggs, poultry, butter and milk. These products are costly when it comes to government buying for price support purposes. Because they are highly perishable, it is difficult for the government ever to get its money back out of them.

Naturally, the restrictive programs on the crops will have a tendency to reduce farm returns from them. Even though prices be supported at or near the 1949 levels, income will be less because the volume will be smaller.

OLD-FASHIONED cracker barrel discushsion on governmental reforms advocated by former President Herbert Hoover is held in Washington by three members of the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report: Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Houston, Tex., wartime WAC director; Walter J. Kohler, Kohler, Wis., chairman Wisconsin Citizens committee; Dr. Robert L. Johnson, president Temple university, Philadelphia. The committee sponsored a meeting in Washington where Hoover said soaring costs may lead to higher taxes. He offered plan for saving $2 billion.

Damascus Notes

DAMASCUS, Dec. 15—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Austin entertained at their home last Thursday evening at a reception and shower, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shoop of Westville, who were recently married.

Mrs. Shoop was formerly Miss Nadin Hoffman, daughter of Keith Hoffman of Westville. Thirty-five were present from Niles, Minerva, Salem, Alliance, Beloit and Westville.

Many beautiful gifts were presented the honorees. The hostess served a lunch, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Grace Bauman and her mother, Mrs. Ella Strain. The basement, where the affair was held, was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

Miss Freda Girsberger returned Missionary of China, of Sebring, was guest speaker when the Bunker Hill Women's Society of Christian Service met in the church last Thursday afternoon. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Norman Karlan.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Robert Dickson, consisted of a vocal duet by Mrs. Marian Conkle and Mrs. Robert Maurer; a letter read from a lady in England, describing how Christmas is celebrated there and a talk about China by Miss Girsberger.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Harry Thomas and Mrs. Kathleen Frantz, with Christmas appointments. The table centerpiece portrayed a manger scene.

The next meeting, Jan. 12, will be held in the church, with Mrs. Lester McCrea as program leader, Mrs. Venable, Mrs. Robert Dickson and Mrs. Alfred Martig, hostesses.

Donald Phillips has returned home from University Hospital, Lakeside, where he was under observation.

A gathering of the ladies of the Phillips family was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Phillips last Friday, honoring Miss Hilda Phillips in observance of her birthday anniversary. A coverdish dinner was served at noon with a cake and candles and appointments in keeping with the Christmas season.

Mrs. Blanche Rohrbaugh spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Randall Park in Cleveland.

A surprise stork shower was presented Mrs. Dwight Phillips. Those from out of town were Mrs. Clyde Hendershott of Winona and Mrs. Floyd Speakman and son of Sebring.

Fherman Baker of Guilford called on his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker last Friday.

Christmas Story

Youth Gets Marker For Mother's Grave

MONTOURSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 15 — (AP) — Eleven-year-old Bobby Lovell is going to get his Christmas wish—a tombstone for his mother's grave.

Bobby's mother died in October, 1948, and was buried in the Montoursville cemetery.

Several days ago, the youngster —who lives in a trailer camp with his father, an unemployed laborer on relief—decided to find his mother's unmarked grave.

His search proved successful yesterday after he had enlisted the aid of Police Chief Stanley C. Zartman.

"Some day I'll have enough money to buy a marker for my mother's grave," Bobby told Zartman.

The police chief related the story to a newspaper and the J. E. Gibbons Co. offered to donate a tombstone, engrave it and have it in place by Christmas.

Bobby examined the firm's stock, passed by a number of ornate stones and selected a two-by-three foot marker.

"I would like very much to have that one," he said. "Now I can find mother's grave and put flowers on it."

Meanwhile, local merchants promised Bobby's Christmas would not be without gifts, including a permanent movie pass. And Zartman said he was making arrangements to find Bobby a new home "under different environment."

HE'S 97, SHE'S 56—THEY'LL WED.—John C. Hanson, 97, and his nurse, Hannah Garford, 56, discuss their wedding plans at Oberlin, O. Twice widowed, Hanson wrenched his back last spring and nurse Garford looked after him during the weeks he was incapacitated. Her gentle care and companionship probably prompted him to "engage" her for keeps.
